[illegible] opinion frequently discussed as one of the probabilities of the near future. The Spectator, for instance, says to-day that with Great Britain never stronger than she is now, and Ireland never so relatively weaker, the possibility of Ireland breaking away never seemed so great.

We have had another week of storms and rain in torrents. In the low-lying districts the land is under water and the wheat is much beaten down. If this goes on much longer the harvest of 1882 will be quite ruined, and the collapse of the British agricultural interests will be complete, a contingency which [illegible] to the perils before the country.

The sale of the Duke of Hamilton's books is still going on, and the books continue to bring very high prices. One volume, which a few years ago sold for $1000 has now brought $1750, solely on account of its being a very wonderful specimen of binding.

The Gentleman's [illegible] the publication of various letters and papers relating to Byron, including letters from Lady Byron to Augusta Leigh, showing how highly she esteemed her, and disposing finally of Mrs. Stowe's horrible slander published in the Atlantic Monthly in September, 1870. I have reason to believe that these papers are authentic and belong to the late Mrs. Leigh, Lord Byron's sister, whose daughters were left in unfortunate circumstances. She had always refused to make them public during her life, but it is probable that her daughters now feel compelled to part with them. They will in any case form an important addition to the lore and history of the poet. Some unpublished poems by Byron are also announced to appear shortly.

The statement published in New York that Mr. Lowell has resigned his post, is contradicted [illegible] but it is most likely to be substantially correct. There may have been no formal resignation, but then the president may have been given to understand that the post is at his disposition [illegible] have been discharged. A Foul Murder.

CHICAGO, July [illegible]—About [illegible] o'clock this morning Joel Prescott, an old and respected citizen, was found lying in the doorway of the basement of the [illegible] house, on Des Plaines street, his brains beaten out by some blunt instrument and his pocket turned inside out. He was still alive but died soon afterward. The motive was evidently robbery, but the murderer got nothing, as it was subsequently discovered he had placed a considerable sum of money and his watch in a secret place. Four persons have been arrested, but there is apparently little evidence against them.

More Bodies Recovered.

WHEELING, July 9.—Seven bodies have been recovered near [illegible] the Scioto's wreck, and four more taken from the water seventeen miles below here. It is reported eight others were found [illegible] many of them not yet identified. The search continues, and each discovery increases the list of deaths, as few of those identified were known to have been on board. One whole English family are now known to have embarked on the boat and all went down. Four bodies were found to-day at Wellsburg.

WASHINGTON NEWS.

President Villard Answers some Questions Regarding the Northern Pacific.

DISGRACEFUL PROCEEDINGS IN THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

The Quarrel over Guiteau's Autopsy becoming General—The Political Situation and its Possibilities—General Notes.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

CHICAGO, July 8.—Special from Washington. Henry Villard, president of the Northern Pacific, through his general attorney, Gray, presented to the house judiciary committee answers to the questions propounded by that body to the company yesterday.

Question—What was the construction of the road?

Answer—1200 miles, completed May 1, 1882, and 170 miles of grading, including rolling stock; cost, $63,550,000.

Q.—What were the net proceeds of lands already sold?

A.—$11,500,000; $9,000,000 in company's preferred stock, $1,800,000 in company's bonds and remainder in cash.

Q.—What caused the unavoidable delay in construction?

A.—The 1870 issue of mortgage bonds caused six years delay. Indians repelled settlers and have always been troublesome, the panic of 1873 also caused delay.

Q.—What proportion of lands are valueless, if any?

A.—Prairie, timber and bad lands; leaving a comparatively small amount for agricultural purposes.

Q.—Whether sale under foreclosure included patented lands?

A.—No.

Q.—How many acres of land were disposed of and how?

A.—Seven hundred and fifty thousand.

Q.—Has there been a construction company since 1875 and is there now?

A.—None by a combination of directors or stockholders, or of profit to them, and all rolling stock and supplies have been purchased in open market for cash.

Q.—How many acres have been sold for preferred stock since 1875?

A.—2,500,000 acres.

This answer was followed by a long argument, and while claiming big success in that matter, they attribute it to dependence upon their ability to keep good that part of the security underlying the general consolidated mortgage represented by the land grant. Gray also urged that the land grant under charter could not be forfeited, except by act of congress, and that, as they would complete the road within a year, they hoped congress would not pass an act declaring the government grant lapsed. The committee spent the entire meeting hearing Gray and postponed the matter till next Friday. Members of the committee say it is impossible at this late day of the session to act on it, and the matter will probably be postponed till next winter.

The Autopsy Quarrel.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Dr. Hicks writes Dr. Lamb: "I am sorry there seems any soreness, but every person who has had any knowledge of such matters must know that the cool head and deft hand of the examiner and operator who conducts an autopsy should be free from contention, lest truth suffer at the hands of assumption."

District Attorney Corkhill makes a statement: "Dr. Lamb overstepped bounds of professional courtesy when he ignored two professional men selected as his colleagues in the work of making the autopsy."

Dr. Hartigan makes this statement: "On the day of the execution, under the gallows and while the body was still suspended Rev. Dr. Hicks sent Dr. Sowers for me to be introduced to him, and there with his hands resting on my arm in a most a demon[illegible] manner with considerable emotion the gentleman told me in presence of Dr. Sowers and D[illegible] son and coroner of the district, and for aught I know there that this autopsy would be in charge of myself, Dr. Lamb and Dr. Sowers who were invited to be present, which list he wished to be scrupulously observed, and that in addition we might invite others to witness the autopsy. I respectfully submit in conclusion after Dr. Hicks made the agreement, whether he has the right to alter it except by consent of parties to the agreement, and also how he is to reconcile the two statements." This statement Dr. Hartigan corroborated by Coroner Patterson and Dr. Sowers.

Disgraceful Proceedings.

Scenes of disorder and unparliamentary conduct have been repeatedly witnessed in the house during the present session of congress. The speaker has time and again demonstrated his incapacity to quell riotous proceedings until after language unworthy of gentlemen and derogatory of dignity and good order of the house has been used. Members in the heat of general and partisan discussion have applied language of blackguards to each other. Only yesterday the words "liar," "whelp," "perjurer" were applied by Whitthorne to Robeson and no attempt to punish the offender followed. Occasionally a pretense of censuring members who use unparliamentary language is made, but as in the recent controversy between White of Kentucky and Kelly of Pennsylvania the resolution of censure is no sooner introduced than it is withdrawn. From the beginning of the session to the present time no member of the house has shown nerve to demand a reprimand of those offending against decency and parliamentary decorum, and it is doubtful whether if one member at any time insisted on performing his duty in this respect the majority would have sustained him. The record of congressional proceedings for the past seven months certainly show more low and ruffianly expressions than the record of any similar period for years past. While such pet phrases as liar, thief, scoundrel, perjurer, rogue, etc., are out of order and indefensible it is seldom that filthy and indecent language offensive to ears of gentlemen and insulting to ladies is uttered in debate. To-day, however, Butterworth, of the first Ohio district and Cox of New York, engaged in a dispute that resulted in the use of language of the most reprehensible character. Cox gave provocation by charging that Butterworth had, with $150, seduced a democratic prostitute to assist him in the election. Cox referred to Ephriam Holland, the notorious ballot-box stuffer and penitentiary bird of Cincinnati. Butterworth in reply made an obscene remark directed at Cox, that destroyed completely the effect of the strong speech that he had previously made, that caused ladies to leave the gallery, and in the opinion of the Ohio representatives may seriously affect his chances for re-election.

Work of the Republican Caucus.

The adjourned caucus of republican members of the senate was held to-night to determine party action in that body in regard to house bill for reduction of internal revenue tax and general subject of tariff reduction. The caucus was largely attended and the following arguments reached with substantial unanimity. First, that the house bill for the reduction of internal revenue tax be taken up for action by the senate immediately after pending appropriation bills; second, that all its provisions, as amended by finance committee and reported by senate yesterday, receive republican support; third, that the finance committee to-morrow prepare an additional amendment (which will also receive the party in its support in the senate) providing for restoration of tariff duties on sugar to rates in force before the last tariff changes. In regard to this articles were made, the effect of the proposed amendment being to reduce sugar duties about 25 per cent for reduction at $8 per ton from present duty on Bessemer steel rails, and for reduction of duties on hoop iron in accordance with the provisions of the McKinley bill now pending in the house. The caucus also agreed to favor the prompt passage of house bill amendatory of revised statutes concerning duties on knit goods, without amendment except such as may be found necessary to correct verbal errors in its phraseology. No other action was taken, but before adjourning there was a general expression of sentiment in favor of making some small reduction of the rate of internal revenue taxation on tobacco, and indications were that the amendment to the house tax bill for that purpose would probably command a majority of votes of the senate.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The caucus of house republicans for the purpose of discussing the advisability of attempting to dispose of the remaining contested election cases decided upon adjournment. About 59 members were present, and this number was deemed insufficient, so no action was taken. It was decided to ascertain how long it would take to secure a quorum if it should be required. The question of adjournment was discussed, but opinions were so varied it was impossible to give any indication of the prevalent sentiment.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The chief topic of conversation at the capitol has been the action of the senate republican caucus Friday night which decided to make amendments to the internal revenue bill that will if adopted reduce taxation in the neighborhood of $40,000,000. It was currently said in dispatches last night that the caucus had decided to reduce the tax on tobacco to the figure fixed in the house bill. Senator Cameron, of Pennsylvania, and Mahone of Virginia, are the only two republican senators who have declared themselves in favor of large reductions in the tax on tobacco. There may be other republican senators who will vote to reduce the tax, and Mr. Beck has hope that the amendment proposed by him yesterday, fixing the tobacco tax at ten cents, will be adopted. He has no idea, however, that the senate will agree to his other proposition, to reduce tax on whisky to fifty cents per gallon. The decision of the caucus was to reduce the duty on Bessemer rails from $28 to $20 per ton, and to abolish the duty of 25 per cent upon all sugars in addition to existing rates by act of March 3, 1875 to adopt the McKinley amendment imposing the same duty on every article made of hoop iron of which hoop iron is the chief component part as is now paid on hoop iron, and to pass the knit goods bill without amendment. While there were some differences of opinion in the caucus as to the changes proper to be made, in the end the resolution providing for the reduction as stated above was unanimously adopted. The internal revenue bill as it passed the house was not at all satisfactory to western republicans. They dislike to be obliged to defend the charge that democrats were certain to make statements on the stump that congress had simply abolished taxes on banks and had done practically nothing for the people. It was said at the time of the caucus that if any reductions were to be made something more should be done than the house proposed. It was averred that manufacturers of Bessemer steel rails said they could endure reduction in the rate of duty on their products, and that the tariff commission would suggest [illegible] reduction of the duty on sugar was considered [illegible] assured. Mr. Beck had proposed to reduce duty on Bessemer rails $10 per ton and republicans [illegible] believed. If no understanding on the subject was reached by a majority than Beck's amendment would be adopted [illegible] therefore decided to vote simply for reduction to $20. Senator Plumb [illegible] if his amendment [illegible] indorsed by the caucus [illegible] in senate and [illegible] it would certainly be carried. The senators were [illegible] that the chances the project could be [illegible] with advantage to the country, and with benefit to the republican party and with [illegible] interfering with [illegible] of the tariff commission. The action of caucus will probably delay final adjournment until some time between the 1st and 15th of August, and possibly the latter. There will certainly be a long tariff discussion in senate and amendments of various sorts will be proposed and debated by the free traders, and the appropriation bills now pending contain enough matter for controversy to keep senate occupied at least two weeks.

An Unsatisfactory Result.

A prominent republican representative said to-day he intended to introduce a bill either during the present session or at beginning of next directing the department of justice to institute proceedings against land grant railroads to recover the land or its equivalent in money which they have received in excess of the amount to which entitled. The excess he says amounts to several millions of acres.

Chairman Williams, of the house committee on foreign affairs, said to-day the committee would probably agree upon a report respecting the Chili-Peru investigation some time next week. He says the report will be very brief.

The conference committee on legislative appropriation bill held another meeting yesterday but made little progress. Another meeting will be held Monday.

Political Prognostications.

There is a good deal of uncertainty as to the order of business in the house next week, after the sundry civil bill is out of the way. The caucus held on Saturday evening reached no conclusion on the subject, and individual members seem to be at sea. It is expected that after the sundry civil bill is disposed of, Chairman Crapo, of the banking and currency committee, will be allowed to make his report recommending concurrence in house and senate amendments to the bill to extend charters of national banks, and discussion of this question may occupy a day, but it after all is an uncertainty. The republican caucus to be held on Wednesday will probably map out a course to be followed; at any rate it will settle the question as to whether the remaining election cases will be taken up this session, and it is probable it will settle it in the negative. The sentiment at the last caucus, as far as expressed, seems to have been against taking up the election cases, the opinion being generally expressed that it would be simply impossible to get together a quorum of republicans on the last days of the session. Without a quorum of their own members present it will be useless for republicans to call up election cases in hope of seating their men, so that however anxious the election committee may be to clear their docket they will most likely be compelled to wait until next session. If it is decided to take up the election cases then the work of the house will depend to a great extent on what is done in the senate to-morrow. District of Columbia business is a special order, and it will hardly be laid aside for the purpose of proceeding with the sundry civil bills. Should it not be, then it will be Wednesday at least before a full vote is reached on the last mentioned bill, and following that will come the Watt bank bill after which the house will be ready to receive back from the senate the amended internal revenue bill, and should either of the two principal amendments agreed upon by the republican senatorial caucus—reduction of duty of Bessemer steel rails or repeal of the 25 per cent tax on sugar, be added to the bill in the senate, it will meet with considerable opposition in the house from southern sugar men in one case, and from iron men in the other. If some of the other proposed amendments which as Beck's, is for reduction of the tax on tobacco, are agreed on in the senate in addition to either of those before mentioned a protracted discussion is likely to follow on the question of concurrence in the house.

Amendments Proposed.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—The following amendments to the internal revenue reduction bill were proposed in senate to-day by Morrill to the several additional sections as follows:

SEC. 4. That on and after the 1st day of October 1882 so much of section 3 of the act approved March 3d, 1875 entitled "An act to further protect the sinking fund and provide for exigencies of government, as imposes an additional duty of [illegible] per cent on all molasses, tank bottoms, syrup of sugar cane, juice melada and on sugar according to the Dutch standard in color imported from foreign countries is hereby repealed, and the duties on such articles shall be and remain the same as before passage of said act, and the secretary of treasury is hereby authorized and directed to cause a proper Dutch standard of sugar to be furnished for use in collection of duties on sugar [illegible] of such standards to be ascertained and when ascertained to declare by examination if the true strength of which shall be equivalent to the number of such standard, and in any case where the strength of imported sugar is in proportion to its [illegible] above the proper strength of that color by the Dutch standard, duties shall be charged [illegible] according to the strength and not according to color.

Aiding the Party.

CHICAGO, July 8.—A Washington special states organized [illegible] among department employes were responding to Hubbell's circular not only with money but by adoption of resolutions condemning those employed who won't help the party. It has been semi-officially announced the republican committee intends to send campaign fund circulars to women employees and their contributions will be returned to those who received and responded to them.

Hicks is coming in for his share of criticism as he seems to be working the Guiteau case to get all the advertising possible. He is trying to get up a quarrel with District Attorney Corkhill now regarding certain points of the case.

Republican caucus this evening will determine a programme for next week. There is a great desire to dispose of pending election cases but it will be almost impossible to get a republican quorum.

Pacific Coast Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Among the items agreed upon in the sundry civil bill yesterday was the following: For Benicia arsenal for completing, erection of machine and armorers shops and rebuilding of blacksmith shop and carpenter shop $30,000; for purchase of steam engine $3400; to complete repairs on wharf $8000. Representative Berry endeavored to have the appropriation for arsenal increased to $60,000 but failed.

Bayne offered an amendment appropriating $15,000 to enable the president to carry out the provisions of the revised statutes authorizing the president to appoint a commission to examine applicants for office. He wanted to test the sincerity of the civil service sentiments expressed on this floor.

Cannon opposed the proposition as under it school boys and girls might keep out experienced men. Amendment rejected, 64 to 40.

A spirited attack was made by Willis of his colleague White for his malice and slanderous insinuations. Adjourned.

Conkling and Arthur.

CHICAGO, July 9.—Washington special: Conkling doesn't appear at all satisfied with Arthur and some of the remarks he has made in private conversation do not indicate by any means the intimacy and confidence in each other the public has for some time supposed to exist. Conkling has been very sarcastic when talking to associates and always delights them by shrewd takeoffs. He is an excellent mimic and apparently has a very keen eye for weaknesses of prominent men. He is epigrammatic and given to inventing expressions to describe his likes and dislikes. It was he who invented the Feather heads to denunciate half breeds. He invented the entire vocabulary of expressions to describe Hayes. Conkling has since invented an expression [illegible] ing the present president and one that will probably be heard of again. He said the other day Arthur is the prize ox of politics. All he wants is a blue ribbon around his ear to complete his character. Look at his fat red, smooth face, his figure, his finely combed hair and perfect growing whiskers.

The Harbor of Refuge gets no Money.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—The senate in [illegible] the river and harbor bill yesterday refused to agree to a provision authorizing the secretary of war to expend an appropriation of $150,000 made by act of 1881 for a harbor of refuge on the Pacific coast for construction of a harbor at Port Orford. In debate on the proposition it was stated by Senator McMillan that the board of engineers appointed to locate the harbor had not determined to locate it at Port Orford and in fact did not agree to the necessity of such a harbor. Senators Grover of Oregon and Miller of California urged agreement to the amendment setting forth the necessity of a harbor of refuge, but the proposition was finally voted down.

Nominations, Appointments, etc.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—J. A. Zabriskie of Arizona, U. S. attorney of Arizona; Zan L. Teddell, of New York, U. S. marshal of Arizona; A. S. Chandler of Illinois, U. S. surveyor general of Idaho; David R. Pride of Idaho, register of land office at Boise City, Idaho; Geo. L. Andrews, professor of modern languages in U. S. military academy.

Secretary Folger has appointed Col. O. H. Deahns, late collector of customs at Sitka, Alaska, to a position in the custom service in Arizona.

A Note from Melville.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The secretary of the navy received to-night the following telegram from Engineer Melville dated at Irkutsk:

"Arrived at Irkutsk with Nindermann, Noros and Leitch. Missed Harbor on Lena. Sent Bartlett to join him. Want permission to return home."

Melville Coming Home.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Secretary Chandler has telegraphed to Engineer Melville of the lost steamer Jeannette giving him permission to return home with his party.

Washington Notes.

WASHINGTON, July 8.—In the house yesterday Butterworth defended the present administration against Bayne's criticism and indignantly eulogized Hayes administration.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Secretary Folger has concluded his examination of reports submitted by members of the commission of experts appointed to determine the question whether the Doyle $1000 bond is genuine or a counterfeit. [illegible] with the secretary's [illegible] given to the press to-morrow. It is believed he will pronounce it as a whole a counterfeit, but will admit that the vignettes and electrotypes were taken from originals or from original transfer work. This is directly contrary to the statements made by Supt. Casilear and other officers of the bureau of engraving and printing who claimed the entire plate [illegible]

The conference committee on bill to enable national banking associations to extend their corporate existence has agreed upon the only remaining points of difference. The house conferees [illegible] from their disagreement to the 12th and 13th sections of the bill added by the senate and agree [illegible]

Logan has introduced a bill in the senate providing that all enlisted men in the army, regular or volunteer, who served thirty years and were honorably discharged shall be retired from active service at three fourths pay.

Corkhill has introduced a bill [illegible] all laws granting [illegible] Missouri [illegible] construction of the [illegible] & Iron Mountain railroad and [illegible] lands in Missouri forfeited to the [illegible]

[illegible]

The house [illegible] resolution authorizing government invitation of the Netherlands to participate in a general colonial and export trade exhibition in Amsterdam in 1883.

The committee unanimously adopted resolutions endorsing Reagan's reputation and Dan Voorhees statements concerning the passage of the bill to regulate immigration.

Secretary Teller says if Captain Payne makes another raid into the Indian territory he will be put out in a summary way.

In the case of the Vandervort lode vs. the Maid of Erin of Leadville [illegible] land district the commissioner general of the land office sustains the Maid of Erin.

Rev. Dr. Hicks had an interview with the attorney general in reference to the trouble among the physicians over the Guiteau autopsy. Dr. Hicks complained the trouble was owing to unwarranted interference of District Attorney Corkhill. The attorney general stated Corkhill was acting on his own responsibility.

House at the evening session passed 45 pension bills and several bills granting condemned cannon and adjourned.

Edward A. Taylor was to-day reappointed register of the land office at Sacramento. Mr. Page controlled this appointment. Mr. Taylor was retained because he has efficiently administered the duties of his office.

Among the appointments, to-day by the president were the following postmasters: Wm. J. Ewell, Jr., at Calistoga, Cal.; Lot Livermore, at Pendleton, Or.; Frank Curtis at Gunnison, Col.; Saml. H. Paxton at Durango, Col.

Internal revenue receipts the past year were near $150,000,000, being $11,000,000 in excess of the preceding year.

It is hardly probable the amendment to the internal revenue bill determined upon by the senatorial caucus, last night, will be accepted by the house, and if adopted it may defeat the bill this session.

The secretary of the treasury will on Monday issue a call for $16,000,000 six per cent bonds continued at 3½ per cent from July, 1881, with principal and accrued interest beyond the 13th of September next, and interest to cease on that day. Following is the description of the bonds: $1 Nos. 801 to 900, both inclusive; $100, Nos. 531 to 580, both inclusive; $500, Nos. 3101 to 4150, both inclusive; $1000, Nos. 10,001 to 21,000 both inclusive; $10,000, Nos. 12,501 to 14,650, both inclusive.

William Hayden Edwards, formerly consul general at St. Petersburg, has been appointed assistant consul for the United States before the French and American commission, vice John Davis resigned.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

CALIFORNIA

The Sea 'Tramps' Experience.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 9.—The British sea tramp Altonower which was kept in quarantine 63 days, sailed yesterday for Hongkong. When Capt. Murray, the Altonower's commander, told Capts. Roper of the Auld Head, Castle of the Cairnsmuir and other tramp skippers that at last his long season of trial and tribulation was over, they mingled their congratulations over his good fortune with their tears over their own bad luck in not yet being out of the coolie trade. The Altonower has had a very disagreeable experience that will make the captain fight shy of the coolie trade hereafter, if he should be a tramp skipper when the ten years run [illegible] is up. The steamer somewhat redeems herself by taking out of the United States and back to the celestial kingdom 100 Chinamen, 27 of whom, however, secured return passports from the custom house before leaving.

A Rough Voyage.

This afternoon the British barkentine Mauge Wildfire was towed into [illegible] by a tug in a disabled condition. Sixty days ago the vessel sailed from Callao bound for Humboldt. When within 127 miles of her destination the barkentine encountered a terrific squall which knocked her over on her beam ends. By the most strenuous exertions on the part of officers and men the vessel was righted. It was found necessary however to cut away the mainmast level with the deck and the topmasts fore and aft. In this disabled condition the vessel arrived off the heads and attracting attention by signal of distress was towed in. The necessary repairs will be made at once.

Disgusted Passengers.

There is no change to report in the steamer Belgic. The vessel has been lying tranquilly at anchor in the bay for the past ten days notwithstanding [illegible] thoroughly disgusted and indignant passengers [illegible] until the board of health [illegible] releasing, the steamer [illegible] appear blandly indifferent to the numberless left handed benedictions showered on them by others of the vessel [illegible]

Action of the Board of Health.

Owing to insufficient appropriations the national board of health will close stations on the line of emigrant travel to the west. This action will involve suspension of inland inspection of foreign emigrants for discovery and prevention of transmission of smallpox at ten stations distributed on trunk lines in the north and inspection of infected vessels arriving at our ports from yellow fever points abroad.

Shipping Notes.

The steamer Strathairly, one of the unfortunate Coolie trading ocean tramps, vacated her birth to-day [illegible] to dry dock [illegible]

The owners of the [illegible] General Miller [illegible]

Attempted Murder.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—This afternoon J. G. Kaiser, a saloon keeper at Antioch, shot his wife and also young man named Ned Libscher. Mrs. Kaiser was shot in the back of the head, the bullet passing around and lodging under the jaw. Another bullet entered the right arm below the elbow shattering both bones. Libscher was shot in the left arm below the elbow, the ball going through one bone and lodging against the other. He says Kaiser fired three shots at him, the first only taking effect, and then fired two shots at his wife both taking effect. Kaiser immediately left, going through several back yards down to the wharf. A fisherman says he jumped into a boat under the wharf and then into the water. No further trace of him has been found though a thorough search was made. Jealousy is the supposed cause. It is believed both persons will recover though the woman is dangerously wounded.

The Nellie Boyd Company Enjoined.

Marshall H. Mallory, proprietor of the Madison Square Theater, New York, has instituted proceedings in the U. S. circuit court against George M. Welty and Miss Nellie Boyd, to perpetually enjoin defendants from presenting or performing the play Hazel Kirke, and to secure an accounting for all [illegible] of the play made by defendants. [illegible] Spring, is set for the 1st Monday in August. Defendants are now in Walla Walla.

Arrival of a British War Vessel.

H. B. M. steamer Kingfisher arrived in port after [illegible] from San Blas and will remain for a few days. The vessel [illegible] has a register of 1186 tons [illegible] engines of 1000 horse power, carries six guns and a complement of 138 men. She will leave for Esquimalt.

A New Mining Expedition.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—The second [illegible] expedition [illegible] has just started for Alaska where it is expected to open a very rich silver mine, exceeding in value any thing known in this generation. A company prospected the ground last season and it is said to be sure of great success.

Suicide.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—Henry S. Hecke, German plasterer, committed suicide some time last night by hanging himself to a tree in the vacant lot corner Seventh and Harrison streets.

Stocks.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—Curry [illegible]; Mexican 6⅞; Union 3⅞; Eureka 12¼; Jacket [illegible]; Belle [illegible]; Bodie [illegible]; Alpha [illegible].

Run Over and Killed.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 8.—Eda Owens, a ten year old daughter of H. Owens, was run over by a hay wagon and instantly killed this afternoon.

NEVADA.

Comstock Notes.

VIRGINIA, July 7.—But little underground work has been done in the north end mines this week and the amount of ore extracted will be small. The output of ore will not be much increased from the Union until the upraise from the 2700 level connects with the 2600 level stopes. The ore still holds good in the Mexican winze. It is gradually moving east across the bottom of the winze. The sinking of the joint Ophir and Mexican winze on the 2300 level has been commenced.

VIRGINIA CITY, NEV., July 8.—During the week [illegible] extracted 25 tons of ore and sent 24 tons to the mill. Mexican winze was sunk [illegible] feet during the week.

John W. Mackey arrived here last night. He was in the north end mines all this afternoon and is well pleased with the outlook.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY

Hotel Blown Down.

SPOKANE FALLS, July 9.—At 3 o'clock P. M. to-day the large three story hotel building in process of erection near the depot was blown over in a high wind. The building had just been covered and the doors and window frames were not yet put in place. Work was going on very rapidly, and though [illegible] The building hung [illegible] fifteen [illegible] after it started and a quantity of frame work [illegible] before it went down. All of the men [illegible] got out and no one was injured. The loss falls entirely on the owner, Mr. [illegible] for whom [illegible] sympathy felt. [illegible] His loss is nearly $6000. [illegible]

Seattle Notes.

SEATTLE, July 9.—The report of O. Idsworthy [illegible] was an error. He is alive and well. [illegible]

FOREIGN NEWS.

The War between England and Egypt but One Day off.

THE SURRENDER OF ALEXANDRIA DEMANDED WITHIN FOUR HOURS.

Unless these Terms are Complied with Bombardment of the City will begin To-Day—Disposition of the Troops.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

ALEXANDRIA, July 7.—With reference to the meeting, Consuls Admiral Seymour said the protestations of Arabi Pasha could no longer be relied upon but if consuls could induce the military party to completely stop work his object would be attained.

It is said that the French admiral has received orders to conform with the English in case the latter open fire.

A Montenegrin aimed a pistol at the khedive Thursday but was seized before he could fire. He declared he took him for Arabi Pasha. The man has been imprisoned.

The Arabic laborers will refuse to coal steamers.

MALTA, July 7.—The store ship Humber with shot and shell and entrenching tools has sailed for Alexandria. The channel fleet, with 38th and 96th regiments and a company of engineers, leave Cyprus Saturday.

ALEXANDRIA, July 7.—Three thousand Egyptians under General Yussif have attacked the false prophet. The Egyptians lost 2090 men, 4 guns and 7000 rifles. The false prophet, with 7000 men, is marching on Sennaar.

Preparing to Fight.

NEW YORK, July 8.—A Herald cable from Alexandria says all the Americans except General Stone and his family are now in safety. Harvey Foreman and Consul Long, however, are still ashore. The khedive yesterday refused to receive any one. I think it likely that he has gone out with his secretary as he has advised Long to go. The meeting of consuls in the afternoon was held to consider the best way to avoid the threatened bombardment. The consuls agreed to wait upon Arabi and try to persuade him to satisfy the English admiral. There is a great panic here among the Europeans. It is even likely that the hotels will be shut to-morrow. Admiral Seymour brought in the whole British fleet yesterday and anchored close to the port. France is playing England tricks here and will not participate in the bombardment. It is feared that the telegraph office will be seized for arms. If so, bombardment is certain. Admiral Seymour is ready to open fire within four hours. The foreign ships are now leaving the harbor. The Greek war ships went early in the day.

A New Panic Created.

ALEXANDRIA, July 8.—The diplomatic agent of France telegraphed yesterday to the French consul at Cairo that an attack by the fleet is momentarily expected, and instructing him to send all French subjects away and to place himself and the archives of his office in security. The consul placarded the telegram in Cairo, and thereby causing a panic, and came himself to Alexandria. The Austrian consulate in Cairo has also been closed. The panic in Alexandria is unabated despite the complete stoppage of work on the fortifications, which had occasioned Admiral Seymour's protest. The exodus of Europeans continues. Numbers of fugitives have been forced to return into town finding no room on board the two Rubattino steamers leaving to-day, which were so overcrowded that the captains refused to start until 300 passengers had been taken off each vessel. The cash office of the public [illegible] has been transferred from Cairo to Alexandria and the staff of that office have gone on board English and French ships.

Alarming Rumors from Syria.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Herald's Constantinople special says the sultan has telegraphed to Arabi, to the khedive and to Dervish Pasha forbidding them to do anything tending to precipitate hostilities. The change of ministry means that the sultan has changed his mind about the conference. [illegible] will be the Turkish plenipotentiary. The Turkish press is unanimous in praising Arabi and [illegible] Egyptian crisis from a purely religious and fanatical standpoint. [illegible] inciting the infidels [illegible] the masses. Alarming [illegible] from Syria and the Hedjaz [illegible] with sultan and [illegible] for India.

France Preparing for an Emergency.

PARIS, July 8.—In the chamber of deputies to-day [illegible] the government [illegible] naval [illegible] The navy [illegible] squadron. [illegible] France must be ready for an emergency. At present [illegible] extraordinary measures were contemplated. No one dreams of engaging France in war without consulting the chambers.

Explorations in Europe and Africa.

NEW YORK, July 8.—Herald's [illegible] expedition has made an unsuccessful attempt to reach Jan Mayen and has put back to [illegible] Another effort will be made and if it again fails the party will go to [illegible]

Mr. Stanley [illegible] to explore the Congo. It is said that his report to the king of the Belgians will be so favorable that the company will [illegible] into the centre of Africa. [illegible] French station is established at the [illegible] French supremacy is acknowledged [illegible] powerful chiefs of the neighborhood [illegible] international difficulty may eventually arise.

The Sultan Rejects the Proposal.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 8.—The sultan has rejected the proposal of the council of ministers to appoint a delegate to the conference. The sultan, in conversation complained of the want of friendship shown him by England in the unjust suspicions and erroneous interpretations placed on all his actions. He also complained of the injustice of foreign representatives at Alexandria who, to justify their causing the departure of their countrymen, made unfounded statements respecting security in Egypt. The sultan again invited General Wallace, U. S. minister to the palace, and conferred with him a long time. The sultan has approved the contract for 100 Birdan torpedoes.

War Notes.

MALTA, July 8.—The British iron clad Achilles and torpedo boat ship Hecla to-day sailed for Alexandria.

LONDON, July 8.—Major General Sir Archibald Alison, chief of intelligence department of the war office, will proceed to Malta immediately.

Two regiments of foot have left Aldershot for [illegible]

A dispatch from Paris states the government will ask [illegible] a credit of 112,000 [illegible] for precautionary preparations made by the minister of marine.

The expedition to Egypt will comprise 20 vessels with 147 guns.

GIBRALTAR, July 8.—The troop ship Orontes has sailed for Egypt with the first battalion of the [illegible] shire regiment.

Surrender of Alexandria Demanded.

ALEXANDRIA, July 8.—Naval officers have made a reconnoissance and reported they saw Egyptians moving heavy guns on Marabout island on the western side of the entrance to the harbor. Admiral Seymour is consequently preparing a proclamation to be [illegible] the city charging authorities with [illegible] of faith, demanding surrender of the fortifications within 12 hours, and warning authorities that if they fail to comply with this demand fire will be opened upon the forts after expiration of a further period of 24 hours. The British gunboat [illegible] has been stationed outside the harbor to guard the entrance. Admiral Seymour goes on board the Invincible, which will move into the outer harbor, alongside the Monarch. The Bittern now lies opposite the [illegible] palace.

The ministry have [illegible] in their resolve to resist. They have taken precautions to insure safety of the khedive [illegible] troops being [illegible]

Arabi Pasha, being [illegible] summoned to Constantinople by the sultan, has refused to obey.

Two aide de camps of the sultan have left for Constantinople, accompanied by Ahmed Essed and [illegible] Pasha, the two members of the mission to Dervish Pasha. [illegible] negotiations are regarded as broken off.

The British man of war Dragoon has arrived.

After the remaining Englishmen were warned from Cairo, the German consul issued a similar warning to 160 Germans still there.

The Plan of Battle.

PARIS, July 8.—The formal invitation of the powers to Italy [illegible] to intervene in Egypt will be [illegible] Monday. A reply is asked for by Wednesday. If the Porte refuses or [illegible] with 1,000 in reserve [illegible] the army [illegible] Kafr Dowar [illegible] Arabi Pasha [illegible] and there force him to either fight or yield.

All English on Board Ships.

ALEXANDRIA, July 8.—It is evident from a steamer in the inner harbor soldiers were distinctly seen digging [illegible] The English consul general and [illegible] English [illegible] have gone on board ship [illegible] on board vessels in the harbor. English consuls have [illegible] the consuls advised them to notify their countrymen to quit Alexandria within 24 hours.

England to be Opposed to the Last.

VIENNA, July 8.—A dispatch from Alexandria says at the [illegible] yesterday an agent [illegible] Turks [illegible] we will treat [illegible] Austrians or [illegible] of other nations [illegible] to the last.

A Matter of Surprise.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 8.—[illegible] considerable surprise [illegible] General Wallace [illegible]

Bound for the Front.

[illegible] July 8.—The ironclads [illegible] and Northumberland of the Channel squadron [illegible] also sailed from this port.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 9.—The Phare Du Bosphore has been suppressed for attacking Bismarck.

LONDON LETTERS.

The Preparation of England for Egyptian Coercion Said to be Mere Bluster—Literary Matters, Etc., Etc.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

NEW YORK, July 9.—The World's cable says: Mr. Bright has practically admitted what was well known privately that a great division exists in the cabinet on the coercion policy.

Nothing that has occurred during the week has altered the views concerning the turn of affairs in Egypt which I telegraphed on Saturday last. The government continues to make a great show of the force which it will not venture to use seriously. It may go so far as to bombard the fortifications of Alexandria but a few excuses and promises from Arabi Bey will suffice to prevent even this. Any more active and determined measures involving a war could never be carried out by the present cabinet. If Admiral Seymour's demonstration suffices to scare Arabi Bey, so much the better for the English government, but if he declines to be impressed by it, he will be left what he is now complete master of the situation. It is estimated Mr. Gladstone's display of gingerism has already cost the country the comfortable sum of £1,000,000 and it is estimated semi-officially that the whole burden of the cost will be thrown on the income taxpayers, as a liberal government could not venture to tax the working classes.

Almost everybody that I meet admits that the Irish problem is working itself out steadily and by no means slowly toward Irish independence. That opinion is frequently discussed as one of the probabilities of the near future. The Spectator, for instance, says to-day that with Great Britain never stronger than she is now, and Ireland never in reality weaker, the possibility of Ireland breaking away never seemed so great.

We have had another week of storms and rain in torrents. In the low-lying districts the land is under water and the wheat is much beaten down. If this goes on much longer the harvest of 1882 will be quite ruined, and the collapse of the British agricultural interests will be complete, a contingency which must add seriously to the perils before the country.

The sale of the Duke of Hamilton's books is still going on, and the books continue to bring very high prices. One volume which a few years ago sold for $1000 has now brought $1780, solely on account of its being a very wonderful specimen of binding.

The Athenaeum to-day announces the publication of various letters and papers relating to Byron, including letters from Lady Byron to Augusta Leigh, showing how highly she esteemed her, and disposing finally of Mrs. Stowe's horrible slander published in the Atlantic Monthly in September, 1869. I have reason to believe that these papers are authentic and belong to the late Mrs. Leigh, Lord Byron's sister, whose daughters were left in unfortunate circumstances. She had always refused to make them public during her life, but it is probable that her daughters now feel compelled to part with them. They will in any case form an important addition to the personal history of the poet. Some unpublished poems by Byron are also announced to appear shortly.

The statement published in New York that Mr. Lowell has resigned his post, is contradicted here but I understand that it is most likely to be substantially correct. There may have been no formal resignation, but then the president may have been given to understand that the post is at his disposition if any dissatisfaction exists as to the way in which his duties have been discharged. At least this is what I hear though of course not officially.

NEW YORK, July 9.—The Tribune's London cable says: Mr. Gladstone's inclination to regard yesterday's defeat on the proposed amendment to the repression bill as directed against the ministry or himself personally is energetically combatted by his colleagues, and the party generally, including the liberals who occasioned his defeat. Nobody wishes [illegible] his resignation or [illegible] dissolution of parliament. Mr. Gladstone's language undoubtedly menaced the house with one or the other, but [illegible] Mr. Gladstone's [illegible] retire [illegible] Irish [illegible] for any other amendment in itself but they cared greatly to embarrass the ministry in whose defeat they rejoice. What the defeat which they might have prevented because known the liberals freely expressed [illegible] that Mr. Gladstone would at last see the futility of the attempt to secure the loyal co-operation of the Irish irreconcilables. Not a few of the liberals resented the [illegible] of the whigs, who were [illegible] members to the rescue of the government. The [illegible] meeting this evening excites interest but the liberals of all shades, radicals excepted, acquiesce cheerfully in yesterday's results. Intimations from all quarters reach Gladstone that anything like a ministerial crisis on such an issue would disorganize the party. Many of those abstaining or in opposition yesterday are ordinarily among the most loyal supporters of the ministry. Yesterday's incident has thrown into the shade for the moment the previous occurrence, but the minister, had already suffered from the smallness of the majority of the [illegible] bill, nearly 80 liberals staying away from that division. The ministry have nevertheless been heartily supported by heavy majorities wherever dealing firmly with Irish obstruction, as in O'Donnell's case or Irish crime, as proved by the steady pressure of the house on the ministry to finish the crime bill on Friday night.

The condition of events in Egypt disappoints the English public which chafes under the inaction and resents the prolonged toleration of Arabi Pasha. They cannot make out what the conference is doing and longs to hear the guns of the fleet speak out. But the situation has probably distinctly improved if, as is believed here, Bismarck loyally supports England at Constantinople.

The Commercial Advertiser's story of Mr. Lowell's resignation was a pure invention, and the assertion that denials of the original statement are purely diplomatic is simply false. The truth is Mr. Lowell, complying with diplomatic usage tendered his formal resignation on Gen. Arthur's accession, but [illegible] ever since.

The 4th of July was celebrated in London by a [illegible] in a tavern and in a hotel by a [illegible] party [illegible] patriotic and partly advertising character. Otherwise the anniversary evoked only casual allusion from the London press. Efforts to induce the prince of Wales to attend the hotel party failed. The duke of Sutherland, who goes everywhere, was present, as were the American minister and consul general, who amiably overlooked the questionable nature of the invitations in their desire for a celebration of some sort. Cyrus W. Field and other transient American visitors went.

A Princess of Hayti Traveling over the United States—Fast Mail Service between New York and San Francisco.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

ST. LOUIS, July 8.—A special correspondent of the Globe-Democrat had an interview with Willard G. Lovell, of Cleveland, superintendent of the railway mail service of the 6th district. Lovell was questioned concerning the agitation of the fast mail line between New York and San Francisco. The postmaster general has recently expressed his desire to do so, said Lovell, speaking to that effect at a dinner given him at Chicago by the board of trade there, but I don't know of any move to do so. It would of course be necessary to confer with companies and negotiate with them, as increased speed will call for cutting off cars on those particular trains, as well as add to the expense of running them.

What do you think the future has in store for time between New York and San Francisco?

I expect to see the mail connect from city to city in three days and a half. It now takes about seven. Think what a difference this would make to business. If the bank of California sends a draft of $1,000,000 to New York they could have the use of the money three days longer than they do now. Then a business man sending cash from one place to the other to meet business obligations would get the same benefit in a simple matter of business. The amount saved would be beyond belief.

A Foul Murder.

CHICAGO, July 9.—About 3 o'clock this morning Joel Prescott, an old and respected citizen, was found lying in the doorway of the basement at the rear of his bathing house, on Des Plaines street, his brains beaten out by some blunt instrument and his pocket turned inside out. He was still alive but died soon afterward. The object was evidently robbery but the murderer got nothing, as it was subsequently discovered he had placed a considerable sum of money and his watch in a secret place. Four persons have been arrested, but there is apparently little evidence against them.

More Bodies Recovered.

WHEELING, July 9.—Seven bodies have been recovered near here from the Scioto wreck and four more taken from the water seventeen miles below here. It is reported eight others were found nine miles above; many of them not yet identified. The search continues, and each discovery increases the list of deaths, as few of those identified were known to have been on board. One whole English family are now known to have embarked on the boat and all went down. Four bodies were found to-day at Wellsburg.

WHEELING, W. VA., July 7.—The body of an unknown woman, supposed to have been one of the victims of the Scioto disaster, was found in the river at West Wheeling.

Fifty-one Bodies Recovered.

MINGO JUNCTION, O., July 9.—Thorough search has been made over the entire river for many miles below the scene of the Scioto disaster. Total bodies recovered 51, total missing 5. Possibly they will find the balance of the missing when the boat is moved. The Scioto still lies at the bottom of the river. The scene of the disaster is visited by excursions, and 5000 people are on the ground to-day. Some of the boats are about as badly overloaded as the ill fated Scioto.

Iowa's Official Vote.

BURLINGTON, July 9.—The Hawkeye to-morrow publishes the official returns from the entire state, of the amendment elections. The figures are furnished by various county auditors and are reliable except Calhoun county. Total vote cast 80,384; for amendment 154,801; against amendment, 125,4[illegible]; majority for amendment 29,428.

THE INSOLENT SPOILS SYSTEM

"The worshippers of the spoils system, that was so bravely grappled with by President Garfield and that furnished the assassin to restore the spoilsmen to power, were never so insolent or defiant of public sentiment as they are to-day. The champions of that system howl their contempt and defiance at every friend of civil service reform, and the collectors of the party tithes state substantially in their orders to their dependents to stand and deliver, that President Arthur and the heads of departments approve of the systematic robbery."

The above paragraph from a leading eastern journal does not overstate the case. It would be a vast mistake to suppose that criticism of the outrageous system of robbery and corruption of which Jay A. Hubbell is the head, is confined to opponents of the republican party. It is denounced vehemently by republicans in congress and by all the strong, independent and self-respecting republican journals of the country. Its apologists and defenders are those only who are nothing without "the machine."

Yet the tone of Hubbell's utterances in defence of the odious act with which his name is so prominently connected, shows that even he feels keenly the thrusts to which he has been subjected. It shows too how conscious he is that he is occupying an utterly untenable position. His evasive and petulant replies to George William Curtis, who has literally transfixed this monstrous scheme of robbery and corruption and held it up to the execration of the country, show that even he, as the spokesman of the spoils gatherers, realizes that the act cannot possibly be defended. Time was when the republican party stood on its broad basis of invincible principles. Is it now to rely on the miserable expedient of a two per cent. corruption fund wrung from office-holders under the implied threat of dismissal from their places if they fail to comply?

But Hubbell says the contributions are to be purely "voluntary," and that no one will be dismissed or molested, even if he do not comply. Is it to be supposed that employes in the public service will so interpret the call to "stand and deliver?" They may be told they needn't pay, but at the same time they know, and are expected to know, that if they would save trouble they would do well to pay. A government employe, whose family depends on his wages, is not deluded, as Mr. Curtis tells Mr. Hubbell, by the phrase "voluntary contribution," and fears that he cannot refuse to pay, without taking the risk of dismissal. His refusal, probably, would not be alleged as the reason, but it would be the reason, and the statement that goes with the circular, that the "contribution will not be objected to in any official quarter," is a hint to the employe that the demand is known and approved by those who can dismiss him. To call this a request for "voluntary contributions" is to add hypocrisy to robbery.

But the worst of it is the debasing effect upon elections. It has been calculated that the "assessment" made by Hubbell's committee will produce from $1,500,000 to $2,000,000. What is to be done with this vast sum of money? The larger part of it, besides what is stolen by the manipulators of the fund, is designed for purposes too corrupt to bear any kind of inquiry. Here, then, is a system which makes the public service of the country an instrument for gross pollution of the very fountains of our national life.

In one of his pungent and unanswerable letters to Hubbell Curtis puts it in this way: "You, sir, are chairman and treasurer of the republican congressional committee. What party authority constituted that committee? In what way is it responsible to the republican party? If a levy of money is to be made upon employes of the government for the benefit of a party treasury—which I hold to be a pernicious abuse—it should be authorized by those whom the party designates for the purpose. It is certainly not a duty to be assumed by any committee of members of the party elected for another purpose. If such a committee may demand two per cent. of wages it may extort twenty per cent. under the same pretext. Other similar committees may do the same thing, and, in fact, the public employes are now subject to various demands of the kind. The money thus coerced by irresponsible committees is expended in ways of which there is no public account. It becomes often a vast corruption fund, drawn from the public treasury by the party in power to secure its continued control of the government. This is a dangerous blow to free institutions, and the general knowledge of the abuse necessarily destroys popular confidence in the honesty of elections and brings us face to face with a catastrophe."

The scheme, of course, is nothing less than systematic robbery of government employes for the benefit of professional politicians who live on party assessments, and for corruption of elections. It has brought infinite scandal on the republican party, since it shows that the spoils system and the machine, against which the great mass of the republicans of the country have contended and striven to erect barriers are nevertheless, through untoward events, once more in full vigor of operation.

GROWING CROPS.

A dispatch from London says the weather of the past week has been exceedingly unfavorable to English wheat crops. The promising prospects of a month or even a fortnight ago have given place to certainty of a poor harvest and the possibility of a failure. The horizon of production in other countries is being scanned for prospects of adequate supplies to offset the anticipated deficiencies at home. A very lively satisfaction is manifested over the fact that the crops in the United States give signs of such an abundant yield of the cereals as to leave little doubt that there will be a large surplus for export. Our granary seldom fails of an excess above our own wants. Even last year despite the flurry about diminished plenty, we had a vast quantity to spare made small only by comparison with previous occasions. What we sent abroad of our breadstuffs would have been considered immense and to be vaunted by any other producing and exporting country. When scanty crops are threatened in any other part of the world, all eyes turn to our agricultural resources for means of relief and never with disappointment. Once more it seems likely that our superabundance will replenish the deficit of the other hemisphere.

The region about us will yield more than ever before. Crop prospects are good everywhere except in a few localities east of the mountains, while the great increase of acreage will double the surplus of many counties. Freights to Europe will be lower than last year so we may expect fair prices—not extravagantly high prices, but as high or higher than last year.

LIABILITY OF EMPLOYERS

Recently in Brooklyn a trial occurred involving the question of employer's liability in an interesting and novel aspect. The Union White Lead Manufactory employed Patrick Farrell. At the end of eighteen days he claimed that by lead poisoning his health had received serious injury. Patrick brought suit against his employers for $20,000 damages, charging that they knew when they set him at work that the occupation was deleterious and dangerous but omitted to caution him and that his injuries were the result of their negligence. On the other hand the defense alleged that the man was negligent and that his injury was the result of his own carelessness. A claim was also set up by the manufacturers that an employer was not liable for injury to his servant when such injury was due to the nature of the business and that the servant takes all risks. This view of the case was taken by the judge and the suit was dismissed the court claiming that "if an employer neglects his proper duty of seeing that the establishment is well managed, or if he conceals perils from the employee, he may be liable. But workmen are expected to inform themselves of the dangers incident to the business when properly conducted, and they assume those risks." This doctrine as the New York Tribune remarks, has often been invoked in this country in suits between railroad employes and companies. In England the same doctrine was advocated, but it became so unpopular with the working classes that parliament was compelled to pass what is called the "Employers' Liability Act," by which workmen are afforded some protection from the negligence of employers to properly care for and inform the employes of the danger they incur. A similar rule should be established in this country.

The reason why the large number of republicans who support tariff reform cannot act with the democratic party to bring that reform about is a plain one. That party though it professes in many localities a desire to push such reform, nevertheless is controlled by the protectionists. When, therefore, republicans who do not approve the present monopoly system are invited to unite with the democratic party to put it down, they justly object to being treated with false promises. They are not to be duped with their eyes wide open. In the little state of Maine the other day the democrats in their platform pronounced strongly in favor of a tariff for revenue only and against the so-called protection policy "which, by increasing the cost of American manufactures, has destroyed commerce, shut out markets against return freights, and made competition with lower-taxed nations impossible." These are sensible and courageous words. But the very next day the democrats of the great state of Pennsylvania began their resolutions by "declaring against monopolies and in sympathy with labor, seeking its protection, and in favor of the industrial interests of Pennsylvania," and so on. The grammar is lame, but the meaning plain. The democrats of Pennsylvania distinctly approve what the democrats of Maine denounce. When republicans who demand tariff reform are asked to join the democratic party to secure it, are they to go with the Maine democrats, who call for a "tariff for revenue only," or the Pennsylvania democrats, who demand "protection?"

A dispatch from Walla Walla some days since informed us that the wheat harvest in that section would "not nearly come up to expectations formed one month since," and added that this was "caused as much by poor farming as by drought." The Walla Walla Union objects to the publication of such statements, even if true—a remark which discovers a poor idea of journalism. But a still greater obliquity is visible in its assertion that THE OREGONIAN made the dispatch "the text of a doleful editorial on the decline of Walla Walla valley." The editor of the Union would do well to lay aside his green goggles or whatever else it is that colors or warps his vision. THE OREGONIAN contained nothing of the kind. It simply spoke of instances both in Willamette and Walla Walla valleys where cropping without rest has exhausted or is exhausting the lands, and added that under this kind of farming the country east of the mountains would suffer even more than the western division because of less abundant rains. Who doubts it? The editor of the Union must have been reading this paper with a settled purpose of finding something in it to displease him.

By the first of next January there will be through rail connection between Portland and Missoula in Montana. That place is the center of a large district where trade already large is rapidly growing. Portland ought to control it and could doubtless secure the co-operation of the railroad in the effort to do so. Of course, when the Northern Pacific is completed, Montana will take goods largely and perhaps chiefly from Chicago and the east but the interim may be made to afford a year's profitable business this way besides establishing relations of acquaintance and credit giving our merchants a permanent hold. The possibility is worth an effort. It is true a similar effort to secure the trade of Idaho failed, but it was through the mulishness of a single man, an obstacle which probably would not be encountered in the present instance. The matter is a proper one for consideration by the board of trade at its meeting to-night.

Delegate Brents, of Washington, in his speech of June 28th on the bill to admit Washington territory as a state into the union opened with two mottoes—one from Dr Watts "There is a land of pure delight," and the other from the New Testament, "Knock and it shall be opened unto you." The speech was an able review of the resources of the territory and her claims to admission. As to population and wealth he showed that Washington has more of both than most of the new states had when admitted, and that growth is of the most substantial and permanent kind. Perhaps the admission bill may not pass this session but we see no reason to doubt that it will pass this congress.

The Woman's Herald of Industry published at San Francisco, presents the name of Mrs J. W. Stow as an independent candidate for governor of California. These are among her recommendations, viz: "She is a scholar, orator and editor, is in the prime of life, is unpickled with whisky and tobacco, she does not fish, hunt nor play poker and no attractions can lure her from the post of duty." Here is a true leader of reform.

The bulletins of the Edison electric light company show that the light is being introduced rapidly in the cities both of America and Europe. Illumination of the Mills building in New York City is the largest enterprise of the kind ever undertaken. This building has been wired for 5588 Edison lamps.

CITY.

ACKNOWLEDGING HIS IDENTITY.—Keifer, the man charged with the murder of a Chinaman at Chico, California, full particulars of whose capture were published in THE SUNDAY OREGONIAN, is still in the city jail. He was visited yesterday by a citizen of Portland who came from Chico and is well acquainted with the circumstances of the crime as well as with Keifer himself. Although denying at first all knowledge of the charge against him, he now owns up that he is the man wanted at Chico, but still denies that he was connected with the crime. The deed was committed about dark one night. The Chinaman was a dealer in vegetables and was driving along a country road to his ranch, when he was set upon and riddled with bullets. The body was thrown into a ditch, and the horse and cart went on home. When the crime was discovered warrants were issued for the arrest of Keifer and a man named Chapman. Keifer, through the aid of his father, succeeded in remaining in concealment near Chico for nearly a year, and finally escaping to Oregon. Chapman was captured, found guilty of complicity in the murder and sentenced to a term of years at San Quentin.

KILLED BY A RUNAWAY.—Nesbolt Smith, the stage driver between Shedd and Peoria, was killed in a runaway last week. He was returning from Willamette church to his home near Peoria when his team became frightened, and running, threw him from the wagon and leaving him there, dashed on towards home. When opposite Mr. Newton Smith's, they were stopped by that gentleman and his son, who immediately went in the direction from which the team had come and found the man lying senseless in the road and almost dead. His face was terribly cut up and one ear was mashed nearly off. Dr. Fisher, of Peoria, was immediately called, and rendered him all the assistance possible, but to no avail. He died the next day. What caused the runaway is not known, as Mr. Smith did not regain his senses previous to his death. He had been agent on the stage route between Shedd and Peoria for several years, and was universally liked.

PROSPECTING IN CLACKAMAS.—Two old miners who have been for the past year tramping over the Cascade mountains in search of gold have at last settled down on a claim about seven miles east of Highland, in Clackamas county, and are sinking a shaft. They claim to have discovered good prospects and have located a claim. One is an Englishman and the other a German, but their names are not learned. Whether their belief will be realized or not will only be known after they come to civilization. Many claim that good diggings can be found in the Cascades, and it only remaining for some lucky person to strike them.

DISTINGUISHED READER.—Miss Henrietta Monroe, the noted dramatic reader and elocutionist, is at the Esmond and will probably give a reading in this city soon. Several applications having been made, Miss Monroe has consented to receive a limited number of pupils at the hotel. Only early applications will be considered. The Chicago Times speaking of Miss Monroe says: "This lady has dramatic talent of superior order and cannot fail to meet, wherever she appears, with the same enthusiastic reception she has received here. For dramatic effects, she is superior to Mrs. Scott-Siddons."

COLONISTS COMING.—Mr. James H. Turk, who lately arrived here from Missouri, has settled in a new house erected by himself in Hanson's addition to East Portland. The company of colonists that he came in advance of will arrive here in about a month. The last heard from them they were near the Idaho line, and expected to enter Oregon by the 26th of July. They number forty-five families and will come directly to East Portland over the Cascades. They all have good teams and will make a desirable acquisition to our population. Where they will settle is not positively known.

POUNDING A CHINAMAN.—Albert Davey, a butcher, who had been imbibing rather freely of spirits yesterday, felt rather suddenly a hatred to all Chinese. One who was just passing, Ah Sing, a laundryman, received a blow on the head from the fist of Davey, which felled him to the walk. The police saw the occurrence, and started after the butcher. The latter made a good run, covering nine blocks before he was captured. He gave bail for his appearance to-day.

ANOTHER OF THE TOOL THIEVES.—William Powers, who has been in jail for several days past, serving out a term for drunkenness, was upon his release yesterday, re-arrested on a warrant sworn out by L. S. Coates, charging him with complicity in the larceny of the chest of tools which were discovered two days ago in a shop where they had been pawned by John Wilson, alias Stephens. His examination will take place to-day.

DIED OF HIS INJURIES.—Joseph Connell, who was last Thursday thrown from his horse, near Hillsboro, and severely injured, died on Friday morning. The accident was caused by the horse becoming frightened at a gate which was blown open by the wind just as Mr. Connell rode up for the purpose of opening it himself. The horse reared and fell backward upon the rider before the latter could extricate himself.

FALSE REPORT.—Some of the subsidiary weekly press have printed an item that W. H. Kinross has been removed from the conductorship of the Orchestral Union. There is no truth whatever in the report. Mr. Kinross has not only not been removed, but the directors have signed a card expressing utmost confidence in him, and that there is not even a probability of such a removal.

TO BE RENOVATED.—This week New Market theater will be re-painted, re-carpeted and thoroughly renovated to receive the "Hazel Kirke" combination which will open Tuesday, the 18th inst., instead of Monday, as first announced. Manager Stechhan intends to make this the red-letter engagement of his management.

I. O. B. B.—North Pacific Lodge No. 314, I. O. B. B., yesterday installed the following officers for the ensuing term: President, Benjamin Cohen; vice president, Henry Baruch; recording secretary, Michael M. Harris; financial secretary, Ed. Summerfield; treasurer, Joseph Harris; assistant monitor, Sol. Shipper; warden, Sol. Shapero.

WILL JOIN HIS COMPANY.—An army bulletin dated Washington June 28th says: "First Lieut. Melville C. Wilkinson, 3d infantry, has been relieved from duty at Tualatin academy and Pacific university, Forest Grove, Oregon, and will join his company."

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.—Judge Deady will deliver an opinion in this court this morning in the case of Chapman v. Ferry & White, and a decision in the case of Blaney v. Grant et al, upon the demurrers to the complaints.

TO SAIL EARLIER.—Passengers intending to leave by the Columbia Tuesday night should remember that the steamer will leave at 10 o'clock P. M., instead of midnight.

BRIEF MENTION.

State circuit court to-morrow.

Board of trade meeting to-night.

Sherman's Circus opens Thursday of next week.

The Columbia sails at 10 o'clock to-morrow night.

Mr. I. N. Fleischner leaves this morning for a trip to the Sound.

Mr. Chas. F. Crowell has returned from an extended trip through the Inland Empire.

The steamer Clara Parker will leave the foot of Washington street to-morrow morning for Ilwaco direct.

The Chinese are by no means the least interested of the many who gaze with wonderment at the circus posters.

William J. Gill was arrested last night for an assault on Alf. Carr. Gill gave bail for his appearance to-day.

A five year old daughter of H. T. Hudson, the gun dealer, while playing Saturday fell backwards a distance of ten feet and sustained severe injuries about the head and shoulders.

AMUSEMENTS.

PROFESSOR SCOTT'S ENTERTAINMENT.—We would call attention to the amusement column in our today's issue. Professor Scott, the Australian Pain Autocrat, and manufacturer of the world-renowned Magic Balm, appears before the Portland public for the first time this evening. As we have previously announced, the professor will entertain his hearers with a highly humorous lecture and concert, and will be assisted by his troupe, consisting of Mr. C. L. Lawrence, the renowned Australian Baritone, and Mr. Geo. W. French, the great silver-voiced Tenor, lately from New York. We would advise all who are suffering with earthache or neuralgia to be on the corner of First and Morrison streets this evening at eight o'clock. Professor Scott gives his entertainment and consultation free of charge.

Mr. M. Thall, business manager of the Madison Square "Hazel Kirke" company, arrived by the Columbia yesterday. The press of the entire country, from New York to San Francisco, is unanimous in praise of the play and everywhere the company is pronounced the best as a whole that ever traveled. They leave San Francisco on the steamer of the 14th, playing in Astoria Monday the 17th, and opening at New Market Tuesday the 18th.

J. S. Clarke, the eminent American comedian, may be seen every morning driving his pony phaeton in from his place at Haverstock Hill, near London, down Portland Place, usually to the Haymarket theater, of which he was, for many years, lessee. Mr. Clarke has acquired a large fortune, chiefly in England, where his wife, a sister of Edwin Booth, and family have resided for many years, preferring living in England to this country.

TO ALL MUSIC BUYERS.—Wiley B. Allen, the most popular music dealer in Portland, is bound to lead. He has just received 400 more new books and over 5000 pieces of music, and 10,000 on the way. He has no dead stock. Music all new—the largest stock in the city. Lowest prices on all kinds of musical instruments. Send stamp for complete catalogue of music and July number of Wiley B. Allen's Musical Pastime.

COMPLETE IN ALL DEPARTMENTS.—D. W. Prentice & Co., the leading music dealers, have put in a lot of new shelving to accommodate their rapidly increasing business. They received by the Columbia 5000 pieces of sheet music and 300 books. This, in addition to their already large stock, gives them a position second to none on the Pacific coast.

MRS. B. C. SPRINGER will return to Portland and resume her classes in drawing and painting about the 1st of August. A model will be furnished once a week for those who desire to study from life.

MEDICAL LAKE SALT—Is a sure cure for catarrh, rheumatism, dyspepsia, piles and all skin diseases. Put up by Middaugh, Harwood & Co., Medical Lake; H. B. Middaugh, General Agent, Walla Walla. Sent by mail, price $1 per box.

It will pay buyers of household furniture to attend the sale this morning at Gilman & Co.'s, No. 42 First street.

Drink for ye Gods, Pfunder's Vichy.

Sewing machines repaired at Garrison's, 167 Third street, Portland.

A gold, shell-case, Riverside Waltham ladies' chronometer; a stem winder; the finest ladies' watch made—real value $150—will be sold for $60. At Uncle Myers', 161 First street.

THE TWINKLERS AGAIN VICTORIOUS.

Vancouver's Crack Club Comes to Portland Again Only to Suffer Another Defeat at the Hands of the Stars.

The interest in baseball has grown rapidly during the present season, and yesterday the largest crowd yet assembled at the south Portland grounds witnessed the return game between the Stars, of this city, and the Buffsticks, of Vancouver. Rumor during the week previous had it that the game would be a very close one, as the Buffsticks were resolved to retrieve their former scores, and would bring a stronger nine than usual. Arriving on the diamond, however, it was seen that if anything they were weaker, especially in the loss of the first baseman of former games.

The Stars went first to bat, and made five tallies. Then in the field they Chicagoed the Buffsticks, and all interest in the general result was lost. Friends of the players, however, watched the individual abilities of the favorites and to the credit of the Stars be it said, they did their best in the field throughout the nine innings. At bat in the latter part of the game the boys struck at anything and everything, not caring to run up the score. Lou Coulter was sick, and in no condition to play, hence several errors which he made are accounted for. Duntway and Brandt changed off every other inning with F. Coulter and Geis, making easy work for them, and puzzling the Buffsticks. Brandt worked hard to redeem himself for last week's work, and played without an error. Three runs made by the Buffsticks were earned and that was all. The following is

PUBLIC WATER FOR PRIVATE USES.

Important Decision in the Tualatin River Case Rendered by Judge Stott at Oregon City.

The case of J. R. Shaw et al. vs. the Oswego Iron Company, which has been pending in the circuit court for Clackamas county, was decided by Judge Stott, at a recent special term held in Oregon City, for the defendants. The suit was brought by the plaintiffs to enjoin the iron company from tapping the Tualatin river and turning the water into Sucker lake, to be used by the company in operating their mill at Oswego. Shaw claimed that he had a good mill site on his land, which would be destroyed by changing the course of the river. Other property owners claimed that their property would also be injured in value. The company claimed that by an act of the legislature that Orin Kellogg had been granted the right to dam the Tualatin and divert the water of the Tualatin into Sucker lake for the purpose of navigation, and that they had by deed succeeded to the interests of Kellogg, and had improved the ditch dug by Kellogg at great expense.

The opinion of the court was as follows:

That the Oswego Iron Company has legally succeeded to the rights of Kellogg.

That the evidence showed that the Tualatin was a navigable stream, and that the state has the right to authorize the improvement of any navigable stream situate within its limits, and for such purpose may dam or entirely divert such stream from its original course without compensation to the riparian proprietor, and the fact that any stream is navigable deprives it of the character of private property.

If any company to which such a grant is made fails to use the water so directed for the purpose of navigation, and actually uses it for private purposes exclusively, the State may, by proper proceeding, resume the franchise granted, but a private person cannot bring a suit to prevent the diversion.

Obstructing a stream by damming it is a nuisance, and the statute having provided a remedy for abating nuisances, the plaintiff conceding he had any remedy should have proceeded upon that statute and not by suit to enjoin.

STATE TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION.

Dept. of Public Instruction, Salem, Or., July 8.

Notice is hereby given that the annual State Teachers' Association is appointed to convene in the hall of representatives, capitol building, city of Salem, August 21st, at 2 o'clock P. M., and to continue in session three days. The meeting promises to be one of the best ever held in the state. The services of distinguished gentlemen have been secured for evening addresses, teachers of rare ability and eminent success have consented to present the various subjects before the association, and music of the best order will enliven the exercises both at day and evening sessions. These educational meetings are not for the advancement of the interests of the public schools alone, but for those of the college and academy as well. The object aimed at is the promotion of the general educational work of the state, therefore all teachers both of the public and of the private schools, as well as those of the colleges and academies, are not only cordially invited but are earnestly urged to attend. A fraternal and cordial invitation to attend is also hereby extended to the teachers and superintendents of Washington territory. Arrangements will be made for reduced fare on all the main lines of travel to all those attending the association. The following named persons have been appointed an executive committee to make all further arrangements: Prof. J. T. Gregg, superintendent of Marion county; Prof. T. C. Jory, of Willamette University; Mrs. Elizabeth W. Andrews, late Dean of Woman's College; Prof. G. A. Peebles, Salem public schools; Miss Addie Scriber, Salem public schools.

Supt. of Public Instruction.

GUITEAU'S NECKTIE.

A Lively Demand for the Rope With Which He was Stretched.

Special to San Francisco Chronicle.

WASHINGTON, July 5.—Your correspondent visited the United States jail this afternoon, and had an interesting talk with General Crocker. Gen. Crocker, in answer to various questions, said: "The correspondents are wide of the mark when they say the hangman bungled his work; that he was unnecessarily long in making the preparations, and kept the victim in an agony of suspense. That is all wrong. We were ready to spring the trap when Guiteau said, 'ready.' I saw, however, that Dr. Hicks was standing on the trap, and had I not waited for him to get off he would have been thrown through the hole and broken his leg, if not his neck. Hicks appeared not to know we were waiting for him, and not until I motioned him did he leave the prisoner's side. The trap, you know, is large enough for three, and Guiteau was standing on it with Hicks close by his side.

"I am receiving a great many applications, accompanied by offers of money, for the necktie which Guiteau wore on Friday. Visitors are continually coming here after mementoes of the assassin. You may say if you wish that with the exception of the rope I have no souvenirs to give. Dr. Hicks has taken charge of everything left by Guiteau. As to the rope, I may cut it up, so as to give pieces of it to friends, but the public may be assured that money will not buy it. I have one offer of $1000 for the rope and another for $500, besides a number of personal requests for pieces of it.

"I had not the least bit of sympathy for the wretch. Of all criminals that I ever had anything to do with, there never was one, with the exception of Guiteau, for whom I did not have some little feeling of sympathy; but as for Guiteau, he has been so ungrateful, so abusive and so troublesome that I saw him go down through that hole with no more feeling than I had for the bag of sand that we used to test the gallows with. We treated him with the utmost kindness. Nobody was allowed to speak a harsh word to him. He had better care, better food and more privileges than a man under the circumstances deserved, yet he showed not the slightest appreciation and we are all glad to get rid of him."

THE MINES OF YAKIMA COUNTY.

ELLENSBURGH, W. T., July 5.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

Some eight years ago placer mining commenced on the Swauk and has continued with paying success ever since; but although a good deal of coarse gold has been found, remuneration for this same has been small for the amount of work done. The mining in that way is confined to two white men and eighteen Chinamen, in three gangs of the latter. About a year ago a hunt for quartz developed a rich deposit of gold-bearing quartz in what is now denominated the Homestake lode, assays from which I have sent you in a previous letter. The discovery naturally instituted search in neighboring districts, and since then other important discoveries have been made of equal value if not greater; and now the opinion prevails to a large extent that rich deposits extend over a large district of the surrounding country.

The discovery of the Homestake was made by Louis Queitsch and Henry Livingston, both men of experience in quartz mining. The latter is now engaged in running a tunnel on the Homestake. Livingston has more or less experience in the quartz mines of Colorado and Nevada, while Queitsch has been securing the mountains in the vicinity of Nigger, Peshastin and Ingals creeks for the last four years.

The lodes on the Swauk, with the exception of the Cordelia, run northeasterly and southwesterly, which cuts the Homestake, and other lodes running parallel with it, almost at right angles. The pioneer prospectors, the Livingstons, both have an interest in the Homestake, while the indefatigable Queitsch has an extension claim on the same lode, and all three have an interest in the Cordelia, which may yet prove to be the best of them all.

The Bonanza runs parallel with the Homestake, which is thought to be good enough to justify the erection of a mill thereon. Leonhard says he thinks he will put a mill on the same some time before winter sets in. In a year or so you may prepare to hear some favorable accounts from this auriferous region. There is no small wonder that such rich discoveries should have remained so long unobserved when placer mining has been going on for the last eight years in such close proximity.

Two other parties have taken quartz claims a few miles below the Homestake. They have their families camped near by; have a cow, chickens, and their teams, and are fixed with camp equipage for a summer's work. The men are opening the claim, and from the rock already taken out the women have obtained gold by pounding the rock in a common mortar. I have not seen this, but reliable persons have informed me that such are the actual facts.

The writer has the utmost confidence in the good paying quartz deposits of the Swauk. The ore banked at the mouth of the tunnel on the Homestake has been pronounced by experts as high grade ore and the ledge well defined.

Since writing the above I have seen a large quartz specimen, weighing some sixty pounds, that has one surface almost literally spangled with free gold, which is the finest specimen the writer has ever seen, size considered, and is from the Lockwood and Cooper mine on the Peshastin.

NEWS OF THE NORTHWEST.

Western Oregon.

The celebration of the 4th at Lebanon was attended by about 1500 people.

Reuben Glaze sold his farm of 200 acres, near Dallas, last week for $2300.

Two trees within the limits of Eugene City were struck by lightning on the Fourth of July.

Prof. J. D. Robb, late of Forest Grove, has removed to Albany, and will have charge of the public schools of that city.

Work on the new Odd Fellow's temple, at Harrisburg, was commenced on the 5th. A kiln of 250,000 brick has been burned for its construction.

George Myers, of West Chehalem, has commenced stocking his mammoth fish pond with the finest qualities of fish. He has recently received a fine lot of carp.

A sixteen-year-old son of John S. Miller, residing near Wells station, received a painful gun-shot wound in the right hand a few days ago, while drawing a gun from the wagon.

McKnight Bros., of Linn county, sheared five sheep that averaged a little over twenty pounds to the fleece. One Spanish merino ram clipped 24½ pounds, for which the owners received $6.60.

Dan. Bailey, an old settler in Yamhill county, but for many years a resident of Tillamook, is lying very low at the latter place with paralysis. His daughters, Mrs. Dr. Watts, of Oregon City, and Mrs. Smith, of Lafayette, have gone to his bedside.

W. S. Peters, of Albany, accompanied by his wife, two children and Mrs. Blaine, was out riding a few days since when the horses became frightened and ran into a fence, throwing the whole party out with great violence. All were more or less severely injured but none fatally.

The expenses of Yamhill county for the fiscal year ending July 1, 1882, amount to $31,971.84. The indebtedness of the county is $21,286.22. There is $5,138.82 in the hands of the treasurer and a delinquent tax list of $1082, reducing the actual indebtedness to a little more than $14,000.

The following teachers will have charge of the Eugene City public schools during the ensuing year: Prof. O. P. Lee, principal; Mrs. J. A. Odell, grammar department; Miss G. M. McLafferty, intermediate; Misses Augusta Patterson, Nettie McCornack and Mae Underwood, primary. School will begin September 11th, and continue nine months.

Eastern Oregon.

R. A. Shinn is about to start a dairy farm a few miles east of Weston.

The grasshoppers have left the Willow creek country, having gone off in flights of immense bodies during the last few days.

A little son of J. H. Sharon, of Pendleton, picked up a large firecracker that failed to go off, and while looking at it it exploded, filling his face and eyes with powder and cutting his left cheek pretty badly. In all probability he will lose the sight of one of his eyes.

The following named have been elected to the position of teachers in The Dalles public schools for the ensuing year: W. L. Worthington, principal; Misses Mary Wall, Claire Bird, Maggie E. Flinn, May Wilson, Mollie Snyder, C. Strong, assistant teachers.

A correspondent from Fifteen Mile Creek, Wasco county, says that south of that place, to the Deschutes, from one-third to one-half of the growing crops have been destroyed by grasshoppers, and in some places nothing is left. The grasshopper's enemy appears as a dull, bluish, gray fly, about as large as the common house-fly. It can be seen anywhere on the hills or where the grasshopper may be found. They stay with them, and where the hopper flies dart at it and fasten under the wings, greatly retarding its flight. According to the best observations which could be made, the larva deposited by the fly upon the soft, thin, membranous spot under the wing immediately pierces the membrane, entering the body of the hopper, and remains until full grown, eating from the substance of it. Sometimes as many as five or six are found upon opening the body of the hopper. These larva are carried about until the whole body is eaten out or the hopper dies by their ravages. Upon the death of the hopper the larva crawls out and enters the ground to become in due time a fly again.

Washington Territory.

There are at present 21 buildings in course of construction at Cheney.

The P. S. Iron Co. has acquired title to about 300 acres of land in and near Irondale.

A raft containing 180,000 feet of logs were taken from Billings camp last Monday, to down Sound mills.

The assessment roll of Walla Walla contains the names of 78 citizens and corporations that pay tax on $10,000 and upwards.

A teachers' institute will be held at Spokane Falls, from the 15th to the 19th of August inclusive, and one in Seattle, from the 29th to the 31st of August inclusive.

East and south of Olympia, a few miles from Swantown, heavy fires are raging in the woods, destroying much valuable timber, and they may give settlers trouble.

Judge John D. Clinger, of Claquato, Lewis county, died at his home, on Saturday morning, of paralysis, after only a few days' illness. His age was about 75 years, and was one of the oldest residents of the territory. The burial took place under the auspices of Chehalis Lodge, A. F. & A. M.

Carpenters have commenced work on Whitman seminary. The old floors have been torn up and are now being replaced by new ones. This building was erected in 1866 and has had but little improvement since its construction. Recently, however, the trustees have taken the matter in hand and are now using every endeavor, both by improving the building, fences and grounds and the employment of experienced teachers to meet the growing demands of eastern Oregon and Washington in regard to better facilities for education.

Olympia Transcript: A. M. Miller, of Wenass valley, Yakima county, arrived last Saturday from the east side of the mountains, by way of the Nachess Pass, with forty head of fine beef cattle. He found about four feet of snow for seven miles on the summit of the mountains. Grass was good all the way, and they had no trouble except a delay from high water on the Nachess river. Except at one place, near the mouth of Green Water, where there is a windfall, the trail is excellent, having been cleared out by the Northern Pacific Railroad surveyors last fall. They had to swim White river, the Northern Pacific bridge having been carried off by the freshet three weeks ago. On account of a backward spring, crops in their neighborhood will not be quite as heavy as usual.

Garrison selleth sewing machines and all the people say amen and selah, for he sells the best.

The only place in Portland to get your sewing machine properly repaired is at Barbey's, 32 Yamhill.

All the leading patent medicines can be found at Child's Drug Store, Second and Morrison.

UMATILLA COUNTY NEWS.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S LOCAL CORRESPONDENT.]

PENDLETON, July 7.

County court is now in session, the new officials having all qualified.

Another bridge is being built across the Umatilla river at the head of town.

The Fourth of July was celebrated in Pendleton with appropriate ceremonies, and barring some minor "misunderstandings" nothing occurred to mar the harmony of the occasion.

The survey of the railroad route from Walla Walla to strike the O. R. & N. Co.'s main line has been completed. The junction will be a mile above Pendleton and cars will run to a union depot.

Track laying on the road to Umatilla has been completed to within ten miles of this place. The Oregon Construction Company are rapidly prosecuting their work through the mountain pass.

Pendleton's new brick bank and postoffice building is growing apace; and when completed will present an appearance which would do credit to any town in Oregon. Similar structures will be commenced by several other parties

Owing to the continuance of excessively hot and dry weather, crops in this county will be greatly damaged, although a cool spell which has set in with indications of rain, may be of some benefit. Much grain is being cut for hay.

Some of our various stage routes changed hands July 1st, but the public are gratified at the assurance that Hon. John Hailey, of Boise, still manages the main lines. His son, John Hailey, jr., aged 22 for the past two years division agent at this place, has been promoted to the position of assistant superintendent of the entire system of roads conducted by the company, aggregating 2265 miles.

After an unusually long term circuit court has adjourned. Four "characters" go to the state's custodian at Salem for terms running from three to five years. A rather anomalous indictment upon a charge of larceny of a house (a feat not often successfully accomplished), was contested against two parties, but the jury concluded that if the defendants could get away with it they were entitled to exemption.

DANGEROUS DESPERADO SHOT DEAD.

From Sunday Oregonian.

The particulars of the killing of a drunken rough in Moscow, Idaho territory, a small place about twenty miles beyond Lewiston, was brought to this city by Mr. J. H. Robbins, who has just returned from a trip through that section. For the past two years there has been living in Moscow a desperate character known as Frank Hill, with several other aliases. Some months ago Hill had a quarrel with Warren Dougherty, formerly of Yamhill county, and gave his opponent a severe beating. On the 4th of July Hill got himself furiously inflamed with liquor and then started out on his horse to find Dougherty and renew the fight. He had about a quarter of a mile to go to Dougherty's house at the edge of the village. Dougherty saw him get off his horse and start to come into the house. He ordered him to stop there, and not dare to enter at peril of his life. Feeling that he was the weaker man of the two, Dougherty drew his revolver and ordered his assailant to stop. But Hill rushed at him, when Dougherty fired, the ball taking effect in his side. The wounded man turned back, jumped on his horse and rode back to the saloon. When he started to go in he fell dead on the floor. Dougherty was arrested and was having an examination when Mr. Robbins left on the night of the 4th. The shooting took place about 7 o'clock in the evening. Mr. Robbins says that few people took any interest in Hill or his dead body, as there was a general sense of relief that a dangerous and troublesome character had been put out of the way. Mr. Dougherty is well known in Portland, and is a brother-in-law of Al. Hersey of this city. It is said to be a clear case of justifiable homicide, and that Dougherty will have no difficulty in proving it to be so.

Hill was a man of large physique, a drinking, gambling desperado, who was the terror of the community. As an instance of the character of Hill, it is related that several months ago he got on a big drunk, and went about the streets and ordered every business house in the place, some half a dozen or more, to be closed. He gave no reason for it, only it was his drunken, imperial will. So afraid were these people that every man of them closed except Hon. W. J. McConnel, well known through this state. Dougherty was a clerk in his store.

In presenting our Segars to the public, we direct attention to the following facts:

The reputation attained by our firm for our brands, in this and foreign countries, is superior to that of any other manufacturers in the United States. This has been secured after an experience of nearly 30 years in the manufacturing of Segars and manipulation of Tobaccos, and we assure the public that no pains will be spared to maintain this hard-earned reputation.

Our Segars are all MADE IN OUR OWN FACTORIES, and under our own immediate supervision. WE MAKE NO SEGARS IN TENEMENT HOUSES. We shall always use the best material the market affords. MONDAY MORNING, JULY 10, 1882.

NEWS OF SATURDAY.

[From the Sunday Oregonian.]

Hubbell Again Replies to Curtis.

CHICAGO, July 7.—Washington special: Hubbell of the congressional committee gets back at Geo. Wm. Curtis, in the course of a letter, of which the following are paragraphs: "You continue to assert the circular signed by me virtually threatens with dismissal officers and employes to whom addressed, should they not surrender a portion of their wages. There is no excuse for such misrepresentation. The phraseology of the circular shows absolute absence of all the language of threats; it also effectively shows the request is for voluntary contributions. Misrepresentation is therefore without justification in the language of the circular. It is equally without justification in the purpose of it. That is proved by the fact that although like circulars have been issued biennially for at least 16 years, by the republican congressional committee, and many persons have refused to respond to them, there never has been a single removal from office or employment for that cause. The other accusation in the circular is an invitation to contribution of what is made a crime by section 6 of act 15th, of August, 1876. As a matter of law this is absurd. There is no difficulty on the point as your lawyers will find out in due time, if they have not already. The law does not apply to members of congress in any of its terms, but is confined in all its parts to executive officers and employes. This language shows, and all circumstances surrounding it prove, your construction involves the absurdity that members of congress are executive officers, and the further absurdity that it is a crime for a man holding office freely to contribute of his funds to a political committee. Of course, according to your notion a simple citizen may contribute of his funds as of right, but a citizen becoming an official loses the right to help an organization, whose principles he may approve and whose policy he may deem essential to the prosperity of the people. In other words, under the cover of protecting the official you degrade him. You ask me to unite with you in starting an experimental criminal prosecution against an officer or employe in New York for having complied with my request for aid to the republican canvass. I will not do this for several reasons. It would be an act of dishonor in me to any republican official who thus contributes, besides it is needless as a means of testing said section 6. In my opinion, neither the attorney general nor the district attorneys require instructions either from you or myself as to the meaning of laws or their duties in prosecutions for violating them and I therefore leave the subject with them. You having declined to unite in making a case against law, as long as the records of congress show through all gulf states systematic use of tissue ballots for the purpose of fraud, systematic throwing out of ballots not cast, systematic defeat of the exercise of rights of suffrage and every conceivable violation of law for the purpose of thwarting expression of the popular will, and so long as it can be proved impossible to have a fair election and honest count in any portion of this country, I propose to keep and maintain the republican organization which shall be strong enough to prevent these outrages or when their commission cannot be prevented, to punish criminals, and to that end, I propose to ask all good citizens, office holders, or otherwise to supply the congressional committee with necessary means for smiting this crime against our common liberty. To the extent that you in the role you are now playing, may succeed in crippling operations of this committee, you become the most efficient of all of the southern bulldozers and most powerful promoters of their invidious and destructive methods, and there I leave you."

Hot on the Trail.

CLEVELAND, July 7.—After editor Cowles of the Leader had sued Bishop Gilmour for libel on account of a letter sent by him and published in the Penny Press, the bishop republished the letter in the Catholic Universe. Cowles has begun criminal libel suits against the bishop and editor of the Universe, and warrants for their arrest have been issued.

Indian Troubles Feared.

Latest reports from the Crows is that cattle killing continues and hunting parties are destroying wheat fields in northern Wyoming. The report that settlers killed three Crows lacks confirmation. It is feared that another Indian war may be inaugurated.

Congressional Nominations.

DUBUQUE, July 7.—Rev. B. Foster, Congregational minister of Independence, was nominated by Greenbackers as a candidate for congress from the third district.

Gone to Europe.

NEW YORK, July 7.—It is stated that Emory Storrs has gone to Europe in behalf of American cattle shippers to mitigate the prejudice against American beef. He has a strong indorsement from the president, secretary of state and General Grant.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

Parliamentary Proceedings.

LONDON, July 7.—In the commons this afternoon during debate on the report of the repression bill Gladstone said that the government had taken measures unknown to parliament to operate against secret societies.

An amendment offered by Trevelyan chief secretary for Ireland, to limit the right of search to daytime, except in the case of secret societies, was strongly opposed by conservatives and others.

Gladstone declared that if the amendment was rejected he would have to consider his personal position. Amendment was rejected by a vote of 27 to 194.

Previous to a vote, John Bright said if the amendment was rejected the people throughout Ireland would feel that at any moment their houses could be invaded. Irish members unfortunately absent were in full confidence that government would redeem their pledge. If the house determined to make the law more severe than government desired the result would be injurious to Ireland.

Sir Michael Hicks Beach accused government of having two parties in the cabinet, which accusation Bright denied.

W. E. Foster said he should support government, as he believed the proposed amendment resulted solely from well considered opinions of the Irish government when figures were announced.

Gladstone said that under ordinary circumstances he would have asked the house to postpone further proceedings, but in the remarkable state of Ireland did not feel it right to take that course.

House reported the repression bill, finished at 11 P. M.

Trevelyan moved third reading. Carried. Collins, Cowan, Labouchere and Storey were the only dissentants.

Harcourt, home secretary, denied bloodhounds would be used in Ireland for tracking murderers.

In the house of lords, to-night the repression bill passed first reading.

The Government's Defeat.

LONDON, July 7.—The defeat of the government was due to defections and absence of liberals, many of whom, not expecting a serious controversy upon the report of the repression bill, especially as Parnellites had withdrawn, left the house early in the afternoon. Several liberals voted against Gladstone. Goschen abstained from voting.

Eight Irish members viewed the division from the galleries, and notwithstanding entreaty to vote with the government, refused to come down. In the division on the third reading of the repression bill W. H. B. Portman and George Russell, liberals, also voted with the dissenters. Supporters of the government do not think a ministerial crisis will result from the vote, as Gladstone feels that the vote was especially directed against himself. If Gladstone, however, should go through the form of resigning, it is understood that his resignation will not be accepted. Liberals attribute the defeat to bad management on the part of their whips.

The Standard says: Division has not overthrown, nor ought it to overthrow, the ministry, but it is another nail in their coffin. It should convince Gladstone that he is not absolute master of the situation.

The Times says: The division will not be interpreted as a vote of want of confidence of the government. They have fulfilled their pledge introducing the amendment. It was not a party vote the house gave yesterday. The proper course will be for the ministry to accept the decision.

Increasing Rewards.

DUBLIN, July 7.—Five hundred fresh placards offering twenty thousand pounds reward for discovery of the murderers of Cavendish and Burke are posted.

Notes From the Egyptian War.

The sultan has directed fresh examination of Bordan's torpedoes and asked how long it will take to execute orders for 2000 more.

The Sultan consulted General Wallace to-day as to how he could satisfy the powers without prejudicing his rights.

ALEXANDRIA, July 7.—Admiral Seymour ordered the eastern telegraph office closed to-night. The French agent has been instructed to do his utmost to prevent hostilities.

A meeting of consuls was held for the object of trying to induce Ragheb Pasha, president of the council, to give a more conciliatory reply to communications from Admiral Seymour. The English consul declined to attend the meeting or entertain the suggestion to obtain consent of Admiral Seymour to mediatory proposals.

LONDON, July 7.—Times says: Admiral Seymour's orders are continuous and the fleet will have no choice of action if Arabi Pasha persists in his menacing conduct. There is no relaxation from the firm attitude of England. In addition to the two battalions at Aldershot ordered to embark to-morrow four other battalions are ordered to be in readiness. The war office has ordered the preparation of tubular wells capable of supplying two and a half million gallons of water daily.

Rear Admiral Anthony Hiskins, one of the junior lords of admiralty has been nominated for second officer in command of naval operations. He will probably proceed to Egypt.

VIENNA, July 7.—It is believed in ministerial circles the porte will undoubtedly accept the proposition of a conference in favor of Turkish intervention in Egypt.

The Gibraltar French turret ship Vengeur has proceeded east.

General Foreign Notes.

LONDON, July 7.—Returns issued by the board of trade show that during June, British imports increased compared with June last year by 706,000 pounds, and that exports increased the same per cent 1,300,000 pounds.

To-day official returns show 182 suspects now in prison.

WASHINGTON CITY.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, July 7.

The senate resumed consideration of the river and harbor bill, the question being upon the Hennepin canal project reported by the senate committee.

The remainder of the afternoon was occupied in discussion on the amendment covering questions of practicability, constitutionality and advisability, and without action senate went into executive session and adjourned.

House.

WASHINGTON, July 7.

Butterworth of Ohio made a speech in reply to Bayne's criticism of the present administration. The executive, he said, needs no champion. It was its own champion and own defender. His friend from Pennsylvania (Bayne), in the exuberance of his soul to criticize the administration, had commenced by lauding, and very properly, the late president of the United States. Standing by the tomb of one, the deep damnation of whose taking off oppressed every one, criticized and pursued on one hand by men praying he might be unsuccessful, on the other by men who hoped he would attempt to achieve success by dubious means, the present executive had walked forward to the performance of his high office in a manner which ought to command, and did command, the admiration of right-thinking men everywhere; [Applause on republican side.] neither swayed from that direction by those who would have him incline to their personal opinions, nor moved by unfriendly criticism of those who seemed to regard him as unlineal, and which snatched the sceptre from their grasps, he had conducted himself patriotically in an honest and sincere discharge of the high duties devolved upon him. The people would judge of the course of the administration as it left its impress upon the country's history rather than by the degree in which it happened to interfere with public or private ambition of any man or any set of men. Butterworth passed on to the question of presidential removals and appointments, and incidentally eulogized the administration of President Hayes. It was the freedom of that administration from corruption that had given the house of representatives to the republican party. It is the freedom from corruption that had swept a republican nominee triumphantly on to the presidential chair in 1880. The gentleman from Pennsylvania, (Bayne), had complained of the exercise of the appointing power of the president in Pennsylvania. There were in that state 180 presidential appointments. How many had the present executive made, 100? No. 70? No. 30? No. 10? He had made five out of 186, two of them for cause, and three postmasters removed, two of them for dishonesty. [Applause on republican side.]

New York has been presented before the country as containing a mass of official heads. Of 276 presidential appointments in the state the president made five changes, and two of these removals had been for cause. Never in the history of an administration, from that of George Washington to this hour, had there been more considerate regard for public service as far as disclosed by public record, and yet the president had been arraigned as if he only lived for the purpose of perpetuating designs and schemes of some malcontents.

Burrows, of Michigan, asserted that in over one-third of the states of the union not a single removal from office had been made. Butterworth then passed on to consideration of the circumstances attending his election to the 46th congress, and created considerable amusement by his description of methods which he asserted had been practiced by the democratic party, and of the part played by Ephraim Hall in that campaign.

Cox, of New York, interrupted to inquire what Butterworth thought of the removal of Mr. Stinch, internal revenue collector in Cincinnati.

Butterworth did not give a direct answer, but in course of his reply said to Cox—"You have the district so thoroughly rotten it votes the democrat ticket by instinct."

This angered Cox somewhat, and he said such a remark came with bad grace from a gentleman who had seduced Ephraim Hall, and who, according to the gentleman, was a democratic prostitute.

In reply Butterworth made an allusion which is not of a nature for publication, which was characterized by Cox as the remark of a blackguard. Subsequently an effort was made to have the colloquy omitted from the record, and it was accomplished, though not until debate had gone on some time of such a character as to lead Morey, of Mississippi, to suggest the chair to request ladies to retire from the galleries.

Butterworth concluded his speech with an attack upon the democratic party, and its professions of civil service reform. In the 44th congress that party had ridden in power in the house, fetlock deep in human blood. Under that power it had murdered more men for attempting to vote the republican ticket than had fallen in defense of the flag at Gettysburg. Beautiful talk about civil service reform. There was not a spot upon the escutcheon of the country that had not been placed there by democratic fingers. There was not a hole in the country's flag that had not been shot there. There (pointing to a side of the chamber) was a map of the country. If asked that a man should put his pencil upon a state where political riot went unchained, where political outrage and wrongs went unrebuked and unpunished, there was not a man who would have the brazen effrontery to put his pencil within the boundaries of a clear, clean republican state. [Applause on republican side.]

Bayne said he had endeavored to show yesterday removals made by the president were against the constitution and laws of the country. He (Bayne) has drawn the line between the late president and the present president, and that line is distinctly drawn. Gen. Garfield proposed to represent the wishes of the people, and his action in office and his action everywhere had been in response to the demand of public sentiment, while President Arthur, instead of responding to the demands of the people, responds to the demands of a minor faction of the republican party. Collector after collector had been removed by him, and almost every one of these removals had been against protest of the people of these collection districts. That was the difference between the two men; one (Garfield) believing it to be his high duty to represent public sentiment, the other (Arthur) believing it to be his duty to represent the will of a faction. The issue ought to be presented to the people.

Holman, of Indiana, raised a point of order against appropriations in the bill to carry out provisions of the anti-polygamy act. Overruled.

The clause appropriating $15,000 for salaries of the Utah commission, was struck from the bill.

Converse, of Ohio, moved to strike out the proviso confining the duties and investigations of the board of health to diseases of cholera and yellow fever. Pending discussion the committee rose.

Deuster, of Wisconsin, introduced a bill to regulate carriage of passengers by sea. Referred. It is drawn in accordance with the suggestion made by the president in his recent message announcing the veto of the bill of the same title presented to the house Saturday last.

Kasson, of Iowa, introduced a bill to repeal certain additional duties on sugar. Referred.

Cox, of New York, offered the following resolution: That the president of the United States, if not incompatible with public service, communicate to this house any information in possession of the department of state in reference to any change or modification of stipulations which the French Cable Co. made with our government at the time (Feb. 9, 1880) when said company was permitted to land its cable upon our shores, to the effect it would never consolidate with other companies to raise rates, and further report the nature of such modification, if any, with a view to congressional action to prevent consolidation of rates. Referred.

House then took a recess.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, July 8.

Discussion on Hennepin canal was long. Its purport was that the senate was inclined to take no action that would commit government to future appropriations for the canal, but are willing to appropriate for a survey and estimates of cost and maintenance, and accordingly senate decided to appropriate $100,000 for the latter purpose. After some further progress on the river and harbor bill, senate let it go over till Monday, and adjourned.

House.

In the house, Willis attacked the conduct of his colleague, while speaking of him as a slanderous man, filled with malice.

Crapo submitted a report of the conference committee on the bill to enable national banks to extend their corporate existence.

Randall made a point of order that the report was not accompanied with the explanatory statement required by rules. The point being sustained the conference was withdrawn, but Crapo will endeavor to get it before the house during the afternoon.

House went into committee on the sundry civil appropriation bill, the pending amendment being that striking out the provision restricting investigation of national board of health to diseases of cholera and yellow fever.

Beale offered an amendment including small-pox among diseases to be investigated by the national board of health. Adopted.

Cox moved to abolish the national board of health after September 1st. It has been steadily encroaching on state boards, and had no right to investigate small-pox more than measles. He then withdrew the amendment.

Senate river and harbor bill was then taken up, and the Hennepin canal project discussed. An amendment was moved for additional survey, and report on cost of construction and annual maintenance and use of canal.

The house has passed a resolution to adjourn on Monday next, but senate realizing the impossibility of concluding work by that time has disdained to even confer on the subject. The principal question to be decided is, whether the internal revenue and knit goods bills shall be passed this session or postponed till next December. Several weeks ago the ways and means committee instructed Kelly to move passage of the knit goods bill with the hoop iron provision attached, which is intended to remedy the treasury decision allowing cotton ties and barrel hoops to come in at 35 per cent. ad valorem instead of 1½ cents per pound, specific. Kelly believed that the knit goods bill could not pass with the hoop iron clause and omitted it from the bill. When the bill went to the senate Cameron gave notice he would move an amendment to introduce the hoop iron clause. Senator Beck proposed an amendment reducing duty on Bessemer steel rails from twenty to four dollars per ton. Senator Plumb also proposed an amendment to cut off the additional duty of 200 per cent. on sugar imported in 1870, when it became necessary to provide additional funds for the maintenance of the sinking fund. Yesterday the internal revenue bill was reported to the senate. There are rumors of formation of a combination to make a large reduction in taxes on whisky and tobacco to be accompanied by reduction on Bessemer rails. The senate is evenly divided on the various questions involved by the internal revenue and knit goods bills, but members of finance committee, who, upon ordinary occasions can make a reasonable guess as to the fate of measures they report are entirely at sea in the present emergency. If it is decided to consider the internal revenue and knit goods bills this session, congress will not adjourn before the 1st of August as a long tariff debate will certainly follow.

WASHINGTON TERRITORY.

The Evangel Disabled.

PORT TOWNSEND, July 8.—The steamer Evangel, carrying the mails to Alaska under the new contract, broke down near Nanaimo, B. C., a day or two since, while on her way there, and was unable to proceed. The steam tug Mastic has been chartered to take the Evangel's place, and will leave here this evening for Nanaimo to take the mail on board.

Death Rate at Seattle.

SEATTLE, July 8.—The health officer reports 91 deaths in this city during the eleven months ending June 30th, 27 being those of non-residents. Of the deaths 10 were the results of zymotic diseases, 26 of constitutional, 13 of violence and 9 still-born and unknown; 62 were males and 29 females. The death rate among actual residents was 13 7-10 per thousand.

Dedications.

The new churches of the Scandinavian Baptist denomination will be dedicated in both Seattle and New Tacoma to-morrow.

Body Found.

The body of an unknown man was found floating in the river near Seattle yesterday. He had been drowned probably a month.

SATURDAY'S LOCAL NEWS.

[Condensed from The Sunday Oregonian.]

The Edwin Reed has finished loading at Astoria. She has 38,000 cases of salmon aboard.

The annual session of the Columbia river conference of the M. E. church will meet at Baker City, Oregon, on August 10th.

"Chinese Merchants Protective Union" is the name of a new organization just formed by the Mongolian dealers of Portland.

Mr. Thos. Huntington has compromised with O. R. & N. Co. for $14,000 and transferred block 220, Couch addition, to the company.

Sheriff Billings, of Columbia county, W. T., was in the city en route to Seattle with W. T. Turner, who was convicted of forgery at Dayton and sentenced to three years in the penitentiary.

Captain Landperman, of the German ship Fritz, pleaded guilty in the U. S. district court, Saturday, to the charge of bringing in an excess of 19 Chinese passengers and paid his fine of $950.

The East Portland Water company has given orders for the laying of 3500 feet more water mains, commencing on G and Fourth streets. The pipe will be laid under the direction of Mr. T. C. Smith.

Ah Loy, a Chinese hog dealer, was arrested Saturday for an attempt to sell diseased meat. He offered to J. S. Keller a pig which showed unmistakable signs of having died a natural death. His trial will take place Monday.

Influential capitalists are endeavoring to get possession of the block just north of the custom house for the purpose of erecting thereon a magnificent hotel, which shall be first class in every respect. The enterprise should succeed.

John Wilson, the watch thief, was charged, yesterday, with the larceny of a chest of tools, owned by J. S. Coates, which were found in a junk-store where Wilson had sold them. Examination was waived by the prisoner, and he was returned to the county jail.

Frank Harvey, the brakeman who received such severe injuries by the wrecking of the freight train at Pudding river bridge, is now out upon the streets with his head bandaged. He says he is getting along nicely and hopes to be soon ready for work again.

Gus. Anderson and J. C. Bowker were arraigned in the United States district court before Judge Deady Saturday, and both pleaded guilty to selling liquor to Indians of the Grande Ronde reservation. They were fined $10 each, or the alternative of 30 days in jail. They paid the fine.

Mr. George C. Gammons has been appointed deputy clerk of the United States courts for Oregon, and entered upon the discharge of his new duties Saturday. Mr. Gammons is a well known young lawyer who has been in this city about two years and a half. He is a graduate of Harvard college, and also of the famous Harvard law school, and is called one of the best read young lawyers in Portland. He will be a useful and efficient man in the position.

Manager Stechhan has completed arrangements with Frohman Bros., managers of Madison Square theater, New York, for the production at New Market of "Hazel Kirke," the most successful of modern society dramas, with the original Madison Square cast, including C. W. Couldock and Effie Ellsler. "Hazel Kirke" opens Monday, the 17th inst., for one week, and will undoubtedly be the most brilliant engagement since Mr. Stechhan took hold of the theater.

Alexander Stinson, aged 14 years, came to this city Friday for surgical treatment, having been shot at a place near Washougal, Thursday. It seems that young Stinson and another boy were handling an old derringer pistol, which was loaded with powder and ball. Through some means the weapon went off. The ball passed through the left arm near the wrist joint, inflicting an ugly wound. Dr. Strong dressed Stinson's injuries and the latter returned to his home.

Our Salem correspondent writes:—Fire was discovered in W. T. Gray & Co.'s machine shops about seven o'clock, Friday evening, which had gained considerable headway before the fire department reached the scene of action, owing to its distance from the business part of the town. Capitals were on the ground in advance and secured the honor of first water. The entire department, however, rendered unusually efficient service and had the fire well under control in about fifteen minutes, saving adjacent property as well as the frame of the building where the flames started. Owing to the absence of the chief engineer, Geo. H. Burnell, foreman of Capital engine company, No. 1, officiated as chief, and in his management of the fire gave every one satisfaction. The loss on the building, machinery and patterns amounted to about $3000, on which there was $3000 insurance.

A much-dreaded pest of farmers, gardners and owners of fine lawns has made its appearance in Portland and is spreading rapidly. The genuine Canada thistle is growing on the plaza opposite the court house on Fourth street. Two years ago it was first noticed there and was cut down by Mr. J. L. Atkinson, who again noticed it last year and dug it up, as he supposed. This year, however, it is again in bloom, having increased in quantity and spread all along the fence. Any one who knows the extent to which this species of the thistle has spread in the east and Canada, will see the necessity of destroying every vestige of this pest. So far as known to many of the old inhabitants of Portland this is the only specimen of the Canada thistle in the state. If this is true it certainly should be the last. Perhaps, it wouldn't be a bad idea to call a special meeting of the city council in regard to the matter. The people of Portland may wish they had some day.

Charley Johnson, otherwise known as "Hickory," and Henry Bacon, having had a quarrel, resolved to settle their dispute by a fist fight. They went out to East Park street, between A and B, about 7 o'clock Saturday night, in Couch precinct, and had a lively set-to for a few minutes. Then "Hickory," getting the worst of the battle, drew a knife and inflicted a severe stab on Bacon. The blow was struck at Bacon's left side, which the knife entered just under the left arm, striking a rib and, glancing, cut through the muscles of the chest, nearly to the breast bone, making a gash five inches in length. Johnson then fled. Bacon hunted up some of his friends and was brought to Dr. Wilson's office, where his wound was sewed up, after which he was taken to his home. The police began a search for Johnson, and shortly afterward found him in an out house on Eighth street, between E and H, whence he was brought to the city jail. Bacon's wound is a painful though not serious one, and he will soon be able to testify against his assailant.

The British steamer Devonshire, Captain Burvis, arrived at Weidler's mill Saturday morning and anchored in the stream. She brings 850 Chinamen who are to be employed on the N. P. R. R. They were transferred to the barge Columbia in the middle of the river, after being searched by the custom officers, and were taken in tow at once for their inland journey. They go to the cascade front. One man died on the ocean passage. The Devonshire is one of the largest steamers that ever entered this port. She is owned by the Marshalls of London, the same firm that owned the Buckinghamshire, which went ashore on this coast some years ago. This is one of the few sea-tramps that have come to the Columbia without damage, or incurring a fine, as she has no more passengers than her measurement entitles her to carry. Capt. Burvis reports the voyage, which was of 24 days' duration, devoid of any remarkable incident. The vessel and crew are as clean as it is possible to be under the circumstances. In addition to her passengers the Devonshire brings about 800 tons of freight. She will probably return to China from this city.

MURDER WILL OUT.

CAPTURE IN PORTLAND OF A CALIFORNIA CRIMINAL.

The Murderer of a Chinaman in Chico gets on a Drunken Spree and Gives Himself Away to the Police.

Last Tuesday night, about twelve o'clock, a drunken man came into the office at the city jail and began talking in a maudlin way to Captain Luther. The man was not noisy and could stand upon his feet, so he was not taken into custody and but little attention was paid to his talk. He boasted of his prowess in fighting and told of several encounters in which he had always "got away with his man," as he expressed it. Finally he said he had killed a man in Chico, California. This aroused the attention of Captain Luther, and after questioning him in a peculiar way, during which the man said his name was J. L. Keifer, that everybody knew him in Chico, and reiterated his former statement, Luther locked him up on a charge of drunk and disorderly, and immediately telephoned Chief of Police Lappeus at his house. The chief came at once to the jail and began a questioning of the man in a way that would be likely to avoid suspicion, as to his purpose. Keifer's knowledge of the people in Chico, where the chief is acquainted, was sufficient to prove that he had been in that place, and in his drunken state he was unable to see the effect of his words. When questioned about the murder he replied in a roundabout way, saying they wanted him there but would never catch him—he was too smart for them.

Chief Lappeus had a faint remembrance of a murder having been committed in Chico, and resolved to hold the man until he could communicate with the authorities at that place. A telegram was sent at once to the chief of police at Chico asking if J. L. Keifer was wanted at that place. A reply came quickly that Keifer was wanted on a charge of murdering a Chinaman at Chico in 1879, and that the state had offered a reward of $300 for his arrest. The dispatch was signed R. G. Rundel, chief of police, and also asked if Chief Lappeus was sure of his man. A description of Keifer was telegraphed in answer, and Rundel replied that he would come at once.

Mr. Rundel started from Chico on the night of the 6th, and arrived in this city last evening, having made the trip overland in remarkably good time. He identified the prisoner at once, and said there could be no possible doubt but that Keifer was the man wanted. Mr. Rundel will remain in the city until next Tuesday, when he will return to California with his prisoner by the steamship Columbia.

Keifer came to Portland just before the Fourth with a herd of mules from near The Dalles, and on the proceeds of the sale of these he went on the spree which resulted in his capture. On Wednesday morning, when he became sober, he wanted to know what he was detained for, and on being told, denied all knowledge of the murder, and said his name was not Keifer, that he never was in Chico, and if he said anything of the kind he must have been crazy with whisky. He claims that his name is Reynolds, and that he is a ranchman of Eastern Oregon. The reward will be given to the police here.

KEIFER'S HISTORY.

Late in the evening an OREGONIAN reporter visited Keifer in his cell. He denied all knowledge of the alleged crime, said his name was Wm. D. Smith, and that for two years he had been driving cattle for Jim Blakely at Prineville, Wasco county. He says he is only 20 years old, but he looks between 24 or 25 years. He is a tall, slender, dark-complexioned man and appears to have Cherokee Indian blood in his veins. He has figured in several minor criminal cases in justices' and the police court here within three months.

The particulars of Keifer's crime could not be learned. As soon as Mr. Rundel identified the man he went to his hotel, being tired out from loss of sleep. He neglected to give the name of the caravansary at which he was stopping, hence he could not be found. Keifer's father is a wealthy farmer and lives a five miles from Chico.

CAPITAL NOTES.

[FROM THE OREGONIAN'S SALEM CORRESPONDENT.]

SALEM, July 8.

The governor has commuted the sentence of John Anderson, sent up from Jackson county for the term of two years from February 25th, 1881, for the crime of larceny, on account of extra time allowed for work on the insane asylum building.

CROP REPORTS.

Kansas Crop Report.

TOPEKA, July 7.—The state board of agriculture's quarterly report says: Kansas is now harvesting the largest wheat crop in its history. The average in 1866 was placed by the department of agriculture at Washington at 21 41-100 bushels. Although the yield per acre was larger at that time than now, the acreage compared with the present year is insignificant. The state had then but 280,405 acres planted and a product of 6,327,858 bushels, while this year the acreage is 1,462,761 and the product 30,268,711 bushels. Spring wheat area in 1882 is but 125,000 acres, and will bring the total wheat product for '82 to 31,-013,711 bushels. The crop in the southern half of the state has been cut and harvest is progressing rapidly in the northern counties.

The corn acreage increased 6 per cent. over 1881, and will reach 4,600,000 acres. The crop has been very backward, owing to continued cold weather during spring. Correspondents are unanimous in reporting the crop in a thriving condition, and a large yield is anticipated. In an ordinarily favorable season it will make a crop of 75,000,000 bushels.

The oat crop increased from 280,167 acres in 1881 to 447,695 acres in 1882. Counties yet to report will raise the area to 600,000 acres. Of 800 correspondents reporting not one speaks discouragingly of this crop, while many say it will be the heaviest ever harvested in Kansas.

Rye shows large increase in acreage—111,153 acres, or an advance of 189 per cent.—due partly to the increased amount of good pasturage sown principally for this purpose, but a good yield is anticipated. A few reports of damage by frost are made, but the loss is slight and will not reduce the average yield materially.

Nebraska Crops.

OMAHA, Neb., July 7.—Herald: Crop reports from thirty-eight counties in the state show harvesting of rye and barley has begun in western and southern counties, and all crops promise a fair yield. Corn, oats and wheat show unusually large yields. In the three counties where damage was done by hail corn is recovering, and the yield in those counties as a whole will equal last year's average. Fruit will be abundant along the Missouri river.

Northwestern Crops.

CHICAGO, July 8.—The following editorial is published in the Times: "Corn is a very poor crop. Wheat is better that last year, but not up to the crop of 1880. Rye, oats, potatoes and hay are exceptionally good." This is a brief summary of the crop reports published this morning by the Times from a large number of points scattered all over the northwestern states.

Eastern Freight Situation.

NEW YORK, July 8.—There is no material change to note in the freight market via Cape Horn. Freight deliveries continue to be slow, and in consequence ships do not complete their cargoes as rapidly as could be desired by either agent or shipper. The principal movement for the time being is in oil, coal and railroad iron but shipments of those articles must soon come to an end and then prospects for the cape trade would soon be rather slim, unless perchance there should spring up a demand for some other commodity. Rates are unchanged. Tonnage is in good demand for grain and petroleum cargoes. For California trade there is no inquiry. Steamer freights are rather quiet but amounts for California will be increased hereafter in shipments of hardware, etc.

Freights at Boston are quite dull and the North American goes on but slowly. However, her agent expects to get her off by the 15th inst. Railroad freights at Boston have been rather active.

THE BARLOW ROAD.

THE MT. HOOD AND BARLOW ROAD COMpany having recently purchased the franchise of the "Old Barlow Road Company," announce that their road across the Cascade Mountains is open for all kinds of travel. The company having constructed a branch road from Sandy P. O. to the Toll Gate up the south bank of the river Sandy, the travel will be able to avoid the long, tedious route over the "Devil's Back Bone" and the five miles of heavy sand on the old road.

The bridges are all in good repair, and all the heavy hills are graded. The company are spending large amounts of money on the road, and will spare no pains nor expense in maintaining it as the best road over the Cascade Mountains in this state. Supply stations with provisions at the Toll Gate, Summit Prairie and White River. Tolls reasonable.
